The first inter-collegiate football game, not only in America, but on the world, was played on the afternoon of November 1, 1869 between Princeton and Rutgers. TRADITION LIVES ON

Before every Rutgers home game, the players and coaches take the SCARLET WALK on their way to the locker room. Fans line the walkway just to catch a glimpse of the Scarlet Knights as they touch the base of the statue commemorating the first college football game and honoring Rutgers as the BIRTHPLACE OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL.

Another tradition reborn during the Greg Schiano era has been the playing of the Rutgers Alma Mater following all football contests.

"The Scarlet Walk and the playing of the alma mater give fans the opportunity to support the Rutgers Football program - sharing in the success of the present, while remembering and honoring our history.

This is where college football began. Right here. It's important to keep that tradition alive."

- Head Coach Greg Schiano

RUTGERS TODAY

Greg Schiano returned to Rutgers in December, 2000, and in that time, has rebuilt the program from the ground up.

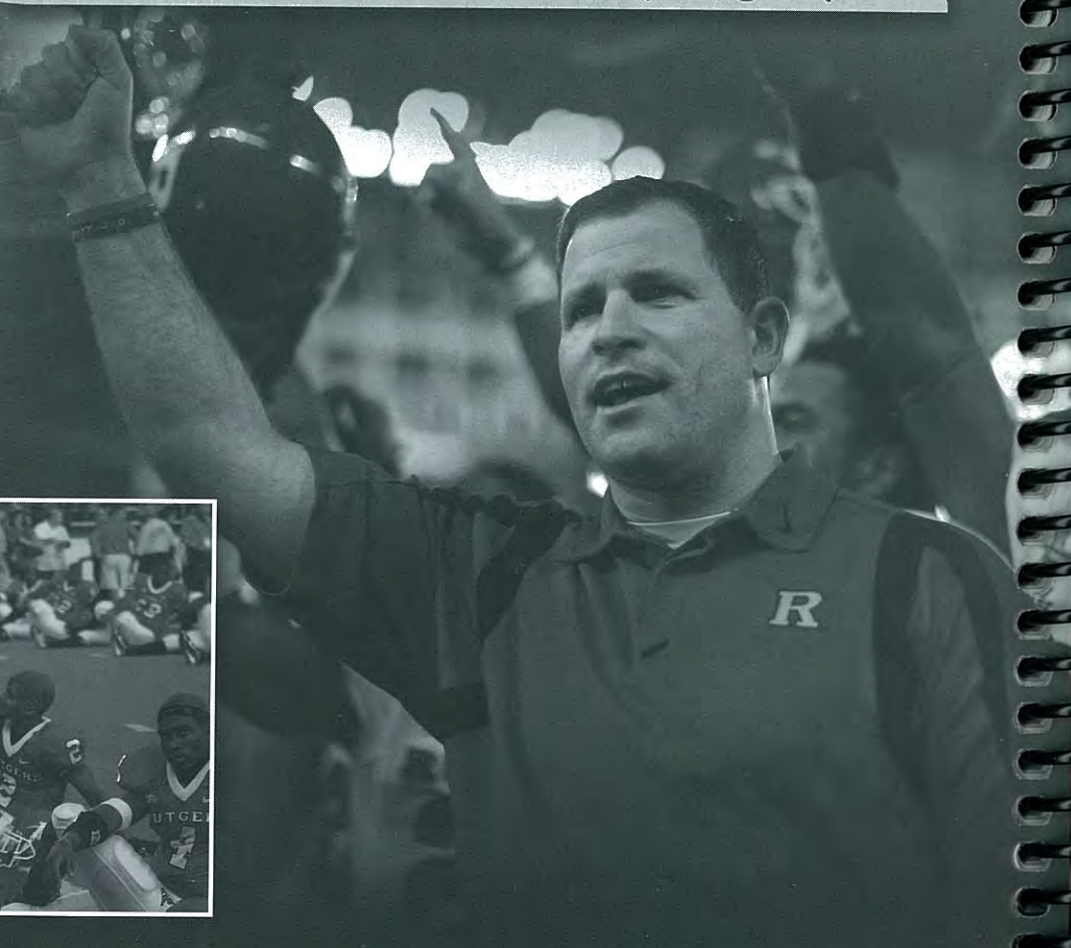

The tireless efforts of the coaching staff have made Rutgers one of the top-ranked teams in the nation, and one of the great destinations for the best players in the country.

TEAM TRAVEL

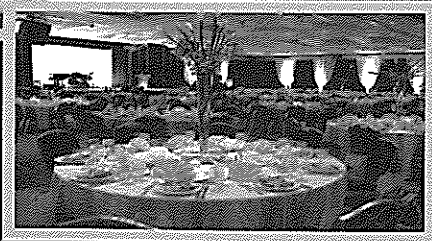

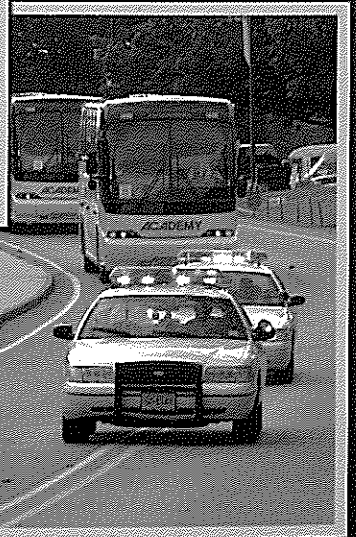

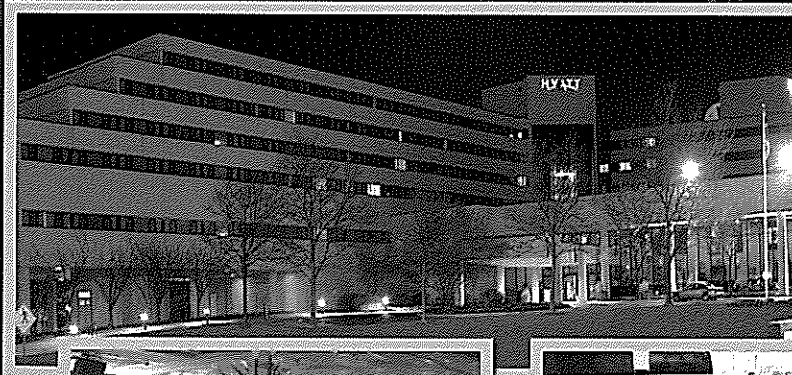

THE RUTGERS FOOTBALL TEAM TRAVELS IN A FIRST-CLASS MANNER DURING ITS SEASON.

The road trips start with an escort by the New Jersey State Police to Newark-Liberty International Airport, where the team boards a Continental Airlines charter plane and flies to its destination. Once there, the team is again escorted to its hotel by the state police and then to the visiting stadium on game day. Following the game, the team is escorted to the airport and flies via charter back to Newark, where it is again greeted by the New Jersey State Police for a safe return to campus.

For home games, the Rutgers football team spends Friday night at its "home away from home," the beautiful Hyatt Regency New Brunswick hotel, located right off the Rutgers campus. Players can focus on the game more easily away from the campus setting, while also enjoying first-class hotel accommodations.

NCAA RELEASES ACADEMIC PROGRESS REPORT

Rutgers ranks third nationally with a 977

RUTGERS IS ONE OF THE TOP ACADEMIC INSTITUTIONS IN THE COUNTRY, YEAR AFTER YEAR.

The Rutgers football team was ranked No. 3 in the nation in the Academic Progress Rate according to the latest APR figures released by the NCAA. The Scarlet Knights have a four-year APR score of 977, which covers the academic years of 2003-04, 2004-05, 2005-06 and 2006-07.

"We are proud of our players continued commitment to be the best they can be – both on the field and off," said Rutgers head coach Greg Schiano. "The latest Academic Progress Rate scores, which represent a four-year average, are especially encouraging when you consider how challenging Rutgers is academically."

The top five Football Bowl Subdivision schools in terms of APR are Stanford (986), Navy (979), Rutgers (977), Duke (977) and Air Force (976). For the second consecutive year, Rutgers football has the best APR mark of any state university in the nation.

The Rutgers football team was one of only six Football Bowl Subdivision programs to be ranked in the top 10 percent in the APR scores. Rutgers is the lone state university on the list and the only institution to have its football team ranked in the top 10 percent of the APR and to have won a bowl game last season.

The APR provides a real-time look at a team's academic success each semester by tracking the academic progress of each student-athlete. The APR includes eligibility, retention, and graduation in the calculation and provides a clear picture of the academic culture in each sport.

PRO DAY

Each year Rutgers Football hosts Pro Day on the FieldTurf inside the Bubble, showcasing the Scarlet Knights' senior class to professional scouts and representatives from every NFL team. Rutgers opens its doors to the National Football League in an effort to give each Scarlet Knight a chance to increase his value on the field for the upcoming NFL season.

The structured day includes numerous drills to test speed, agility, quickness, strength and ball control. The day is designed to facilitate the evaluation processes of the professional scouts, while providing a familiar environment for the Scarlet Knights during rigorous testing.

For the second-straight season, three Scarlet Knights were invited to the NFL Combine in Indianapolis. This year, Ray Rice, Jeremy Zuttah and Pedro Sosa joined the nation's elite at the NFL Combine.

In addition to Rutgers Pro Day, many players have represented Rutgers in post-season All-Star Bowl Games and played in front of professional scouts around the nation, in hopes of continuing their career at the next level.

With a dozen treatment tables, 10 ultrasound machines, eight taping tables and a host of cardiovascular and strength and conditioning equipment, the new training room gives Rutgers every advantage in both rehabilitation and prevention of injuries.

Two new advancements in technology - the Biodesx machine and the Hydroworks pool - are featured in the training room as well.

The Biodesx System 3 offers pioneering breakthroughs in neuromuscular testing and rehabilitation technology, providing student-athletes a fast, effective, documented return to action.

The Hydroworks pool is part of the new "wet room," which also features a hot tub and a cold tub. The Hydroworks is a pool with a treadmill on the floor, providing water resistance while running and putting less strain on joints during rehab.

RUTGERS

2008 SEASON PREVIEW

As head coach Greg Schiano and his staff enter another new season in 2008, the goal and commitment to build a competitive and nationally-recognized program remains the same. Since his first season in 2001, the Scarlet Knights have continued to make marked improvements both on and off the field.

The 2007 football campaign was one of great historical significance and served as affirmation that the Rutgers program is on the rise. For the first time in 138 seasons of football at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights played in a bowl game for the third consecutive season with their appearance in the 2008 International Bowl. With the 52-30 victory over Ball State, RU won its second-straight bowl game – another first in school history.

After a season in which the defense cemented itself among the nation's elite (Rutgers ranked fourth nationally in total defense in 2006), the Scarlet Knight offense showed it too was one of the best in college football.

Rutgers earned the distinction of being the first school in NCAA history to boast a 3,000-yard passer, 2,000-yard rusher and a pair of 1,000-yard receivers in the same season. The two 1,000-yard receivers were the first in BIG EAST history and 26th in NCAA history.

Although the Scarlet Knights return an experienced group with seven starters on offense and eight starters on defense, Rutgers must also look to overcome the departure of a Heisman Trophy candidate running back, two All-BIG EAST tackles, a trio of defensive standouts and one of the winningest senior classes in school history. These key losses coupled with a number of players recovering from off-season surgeries are one of the challenges facing Schiano as he welcomes his next group of Scarlet Knights.

OFFENSE

The 2007 season for the Rutgers offense will go down as one of the most prolific in school history as last year's Scarlet Knights were just one of eight teams in 138 years of football to score 300 points in a season. RU set school records for scoring (426), first downs (294) and total offense (5,841) in 2007. The team also posted five of the Top 10 total offensive performances during the Schiano era.

Nationally, the Rutgers offense finished second in fewest sacks allowed, 18th in total offense, 22nd in passing efficiency, 26th in rushing offense and 33rd in scoring offense.

The Scarlet Knights return to the gridiron with a pair of signal callers who handled the bulk of the quarterbacking duties in 2007. Senior Mike Teel, the most consistent player under center last season, will look to continue his momentum from a stellar junior campaign in which he set a school record with 20 passing touchdowns. In his third year "On the Banks," Teel is 21-8 as the Rutgers starter and last season became the second player in school history with three consecutive 300-yard games and six for his career. Teel completed 203-of-349 passes for 3,147 yards and ranked 17th nationally in passing efficiency.

RETURNING QUARTERBACKS

| 11 | Domenic Natale | 6-2 | 210 | Jr.* |

| 14 | Mike Teel | 6-4 | 220 | Sr.* |
| 15 | Jabu Lovelace | 6-2 | 215 | Jr.* |

Junior quarterback Jabu Lovelace saw his playing significantly increase as a sophomore, appearing in 10 games after seeing time in just three as a redshirt freshman. Rutgers utilized Lovelace primarily in its rushing attack as he carried the ball from the shotgun set 82 times for 332 yards and scored four touchdowns. He had a pair of two TD games, against Norfolk State and at Army.

Sophomore Chris Paul-Etienne, who played in three games in his redshirt freshman season, will look to compete with junior Domenic Natale for time under center this fall. 2008 signee Steve Shimko enrolled at Rutgers for the spring and could also find himself in the mix at quarterback.

RETURNING RUNNING BACKS

|----|----------------|------|-----|------|
| 8 | Kordell Young | 5-9 | 185 | So.* |
| 19 | Jack Corcoran | 6-1 | 230 | Jr. |

| 37 | Andres Morales | 6-2 | 250 | So.* |
| 38 | Joe Martinek | 6-0 | 215 | Fr.* |
| 39 | Jourdan Brooks | 6-1 | 245 | Fr.* |

Without arguably the best running back in Rutgers history, the Scarlet Knights will look to a number of talented backs to fill the shoes of the departed Ray Rice. Rice, the 55th overall pick by the Baltimore Ravens in the 2008 NFL Draft, ended his career as a Scarlet Knight on an outstanding note. In his final game, the All-American rushed for a school-best 280 yards and became the first player in Rutgers and BIG EAST history and the 13th in NCAA history to rush for 2,000 yards in a season. The Doak Walker Finalist and unanimous First Team All-BIG EAST selection finished his collegiate career as the all-time leading rusher in school history (4,926) and second-leading ball carrier all-time in the BIG EAST.

After suffering an injury in the third game of the 2007 season against Norfolk State, redshirt sophomore Kordell Young returns and is the most experienced tailback on the roster, having played in 14 career games. In his three games (in 2007), Young carried 18 times for 58 yards and amassed 96 yards on kickoff returns.

Joining Young as the other veteran tailback is sophomore Mason Robinson. Robinson appeared in 10 games as a true freshman, gaining 202 yards on the ground off 36 carries. He also handled kick and punt return duties with 304 total return yards.

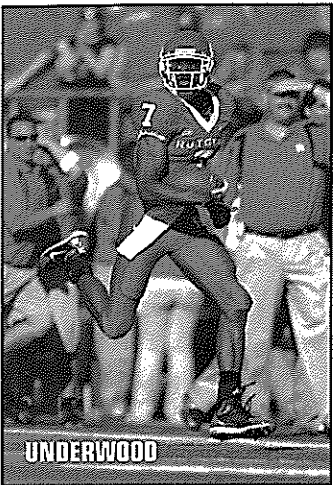

Also battling for time at tailback will be a pair of redshirt freshmen in Joe Martinek and Jourdan Brooks. The all-time leading rusher in New Jersey state history, Martinek made the return to running back after spending much of his redshirt season as a defensive back. At 6-1, 245-pounds, Brooks presents a bruising running style and will look to add size and strength to the mix in the backfield.

In addition to the competition at tailback, there will also likely be a challenge for the fullback position between returning players Jack Corcoran and Andres Morales. Corcoran enters his junior season, having played in all but one game in his first two seasons at fullback. Morales, who made the move from defensive end to linebacker and finally to lead blocker in 2007, played in the last eight games, making five starts.

| 85 | Brian Morris | 5-10 | 175 | So. |
| 88 | Kenny Britt | 6-4 | 215 | Jr. |

The Scarlet Knights return the bulk of their receiving corps and will also get a major boost from an outstanding recruiting class. Senior Tiquan Underwood and junior Kenny Britt became just the second and third receivers, respectively, in Rutgers history to top the 1,000-yard plateau. Britt and Underwood also finished second and third, respectively, in the BIG EAST in receiving yards per game.

Britt finished with a school-record 1,232 yards on 62 catches, while Underwood gained 1,100 yards through the air on 65 receptions. The pair also combined for 15 touchdowns (eight for Britt, seven for Underwood).

Junior Tim Brown will be back in action as the team's third-leading receiver. The Miami, Fla., native caught 24 passes for 340 yards and two touchdowns, including one in the International Bowl victory.

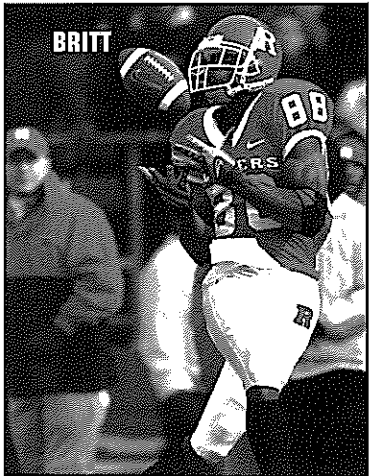

Adding to the depth at the wide receiver position will be junior Dennis Campbell, sophomore Julian Hayes and newly converted wideout Andrew DePaola. DePaola spent the previous three seasons as a quarterback. Keith Stroud, an early signee who enrolled at Rutgers in the spring, will also vie for playing time among the pass catchers.

After emerging as a reliable run blocker and receiver midway through last season, senior Kevin Brock returns to lead a talented group of tight ends. Brock caught 23 passes for 241 yards and two touchdowns as he went on to start four of the final six games in 2007.

The Scarlet Knights' other returning letterwinner at the tight end position is sophomore Shamar Graves. In his redshirt freshman season, Graves appeared in nine games with three catches and a touchdown. Aside from Brock, he is the only other tight end with significant playing time on the roster. Senior Craig McGovern, redshirt freshman Fabian Ruiz and redshirt sophomore Tom Lang will also provide depth in 2008.

| 78 | Kevin Haslam | 6-7 | 295 | Jr.* |
| 79 | Richard Muldrow | 6-6 | 290 | Fr.* |

Rutgers finished the 2006 season with one of the top-rated offensive lines in the nation (allowed eight sacks, fewest in country) and 2007 proved to be much of the same with the Scarlet Knights ranking second nationally, having relinquished just 10 sacks on the year. The offensive line blocked for a team that averaged 198.0 yards on the ground and 251.3 yards through the air, marks which ranked second and third, respectively, in the BIG EAST.

However, RU must look to replace three starters from its nationally-ranked offensive line in All-BIG EAST tackles Jeremy Zuttah and Pedro Sosa and left guard Mike Fladell.

Sophomore Anthony Davis will take over at left tackle following a stellar true freshman campaign in which he earned Freshman All-America honors from the Football Writers of America Association and The Sporting News. The Piscataway native played in all 13 games and started the final eight contests.

Junior Ryan Blaszczyk returns to his starting center position after a solid sophomore season. In his first season as a starter, Blaszczyk helped the offensive line through a smooth transition following the departure of former center and current Pittsburgh Steeler Darnell Stapleton.

Helping to fill in at the other three vacant spots on the offensive line will be a number of veterans and several redshirt freshmen. Junior Kevin Haslam played in all 13 games (five starts) last season, seeing time at right guard, and both tackle spots. He will be joined by senior Mike Gilmartin (28 career games), and sophomores Howard Barbieri (10 games) and Mo Lange (12 games).

Redshirt freshmen Caleb Ruch, Richard Muldrow and Desmond Stapleton will also help bolster the offensive line, while early enrollee Art Forst is expected to compete for a position on the line.

2008 SEASON PREVIEW

DEFENSE

The Rutgers defense once again took its place among college football's top units in 2007 as the squad ranked fifth nationally in pass defense, 12th in sacks, 20th in tackles for loss, 16th in pass efficiency defense, 17th in total defense and 30th in scoring defense.

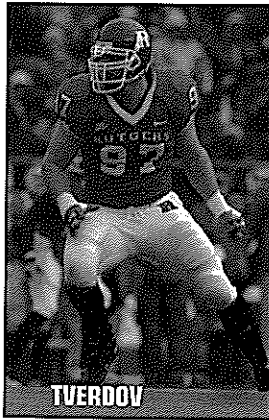

This season, Schiano is faced with the tough task of replacing three defensive stalwarts in All-American and First Team All-BIG EAST selection Eric Foster, four-year starter Ron Girault and Oraddy Trophy finalist Brandon Renkart.

RETURNING DEFENSIVE LINEMEN

| 98 | Evan Lampert | 6-3 | 250 | Fr.* |
| 99 | Jonathan Freeny | 6-3 | 240 | So. |

There will be a noticeable difference to the defensive line with the absence of Foster. The two-time captain was a mainstay for the defensive front, however, there are several Scarlet Knights poised to fill his shoes.

Senior Jamaal Westerman leads the group of returning linemen. Westerman paced the team and was tied for sixth in the conference with eight sacks in 2007. His 20 career sacks rank fifth on the school's all-time list. In all, Westerman recorded 50 tackles (21 solo, 29 assisted), 14 for loss and 11 quarterback hurries last season.

Classmate Pete Tverdov returns as the team's other regular starter on the defensive line. Tverdov played in 10 games last season after missing the first three with an injury. He posted 36 tackles (15 solo, 21 assisted), eight for loss and one sack.

Other veterans expected to make an impact on the defensive line will be senior Gary Watts and junior George Johnson. The pair appeared in all 13 games and combined for 55 tackles, 13 for loss and eight sacks.

Sophomores Alex Silvestro, Jonathan Freeny and Justin Francis also saw significant action as true freshmen last season and should provide excellent depth for the Scarlet Knights as they battle for position on the defensive line.

The linebacking corps will be without Renkart, its captain and leader. The former walk-on took on the role of mentor last season as he helped guide a young group of linebackers that featured no senior other than himself and just two juniors.

Taking over the reins this season will be senior Kevin Malast, who in his first season as a starter ranked second on the team with 92 tackles (38 solo, 54 assisted). He also had 2.5 sacks and recovered a fumble.

| 54 | Anthony Lisanti | 5-8 | 210 | Fr.* |

Malast will be joined by fellow second-year starter, junior Damaso Munoz. Munoz appeared in all 13 games at middle linebacker and was tied for third on the squad with 67 tackles (28 solo, 39 assisted). Redshirt freshman linebacker Manny Abreu had a terrific spring and vaulted himself into contention for a starting job this fall.

Juniors Blair Bines and Ryan D'Imperio will also look to help steady the linebacker position along with senior Chris Quaye. Both Bines and D'Imperio suffered injuries in 2007, but are expected to return to form and provide experienced depth.

RETURNING DEFENSIVE BACKS

| 42 | Marc Orosz | 5-10 | 195 | Sr.* |
| 43 | Ramy Nubani | 5-10 | 195 | So.* |

Despite the graduation of Girault, who started all but four games at strong safety during his four-year career, the Scarlet Knights look to be in good shape with the return of free safety Courtney Greene. The two-time All-BIG EAST selection decided to return for his senior season "On the Banks," opting not to enter the draft early as a junior.

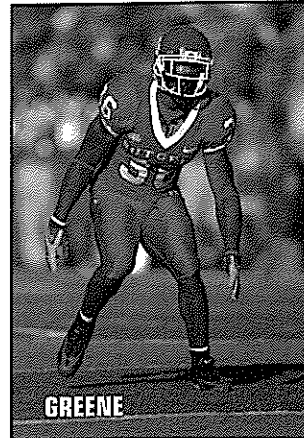

Greene, who led the Scarlet Knights in tackles with 101 (54 solo, 47 assisted), will help anchor a deep defensive backfield.

Also vying for time at safety will be sophomore Joe Lefeged who had an outstanding year as a true freshman. The Germantown, Md., native received Freshman All-America honors after a season in which he posted 38 tackles, 3.5 for loss and 3.5 sacks.

Others in the mix at safety will be senior Glen Lee and juniors Davon Smart and Zaire Kitchen. Lee played in 11 games, totaling 32 tackles. Smart was a mainstay on RU's kickoff and put units, appearing in 13 games with 18 tackles. Kitchen saw action in nine games before suffering a season-ending injury. He amassed 16 tackles and a key interception in those contests.

Jason and Devin McCourty proved to be reliable options at the two starting cornerback positions and they return this season to resume their duties. Jason, a senior, has started the past two seasons, while Devin earned the starting role for the first time last year. Jason had 44 tackles on the season and a team-best 12 pass breakups.

In his first season as a starter, Devin posted 63 tackles and two interceptions, including one which he returned for a touchdown. He was also a stellar performer on special teams, coming up with the team's three blocked kicks, all of which led to eventual touchdowns for the Scarlet Knights.

Junior Billy Anderson, sophomore Brandon Bing and redshirt freshman Robenson Alexis are three players to also watch for in the defensive backfield in 2008. Anderson appeared in four games, while Bing appeared in 12 games, primarily in special team situations. Alexis will join them on the defensive side of the ball after making the switch from wide receiver during spring camp.

SPECIAL TEAMS

The Rutgers kicking game will deeply miss the services of All-American place-kicker Jeremy Ito. Ito handled the place-kicking duties for the past four years and also added punting to his repertoire last season. Ito converted 23-of-31 field goals in 2007. Rutgers' all-time leader in field goals made, Ito became one of six players in NCAA history to record at least 80 career field goals.

Taking over at place-kicker will be redshirt freshman San San Te. Coming out of high school Te ranked as the No. 5 place-kicking prospect in the nation by Scout.com.

| 93 | Teddy Dellaganna | 6-2 | 210 | So.* |

After a solid spring campaign, sophomore transfer Teddy Dellaganna seems poised to take hold of the starting position at punter. Junior Matt Voliva will add depth as both a capable punter and place-kicker.

With every new college football season, the coaching staff focuses on finding the perfect combination of players that gives the squad the best chances to excel. Added to the previously stated talent will be a highly-touted 2008 recruiting class, a number of which may find themselves on the field in their first season. In 2007, a total of 10 true freshmen took to the field and the same number or more could potentially see playing time in 2008 as Schiano has made a commitment to field the best 11 players, regardless of experience.

Along with the obvious upgrades in talent and improvements on the field, RU also has a bright future to look forward to off the field as groundbreaking has begun on the $102 million expansion of Rutgers Stadium. RU has played in front of 10-straight sell-out crowds dating back to 2006 and averaged a school-record 43,663 fans per game in 2007. For the second-straight season, Rutgers set single-game and season attendance records, proving that fans have been ignited by the Scarlet Knights with a growing season ticket waiting list of nearly 12,000.

WELCOME BACK

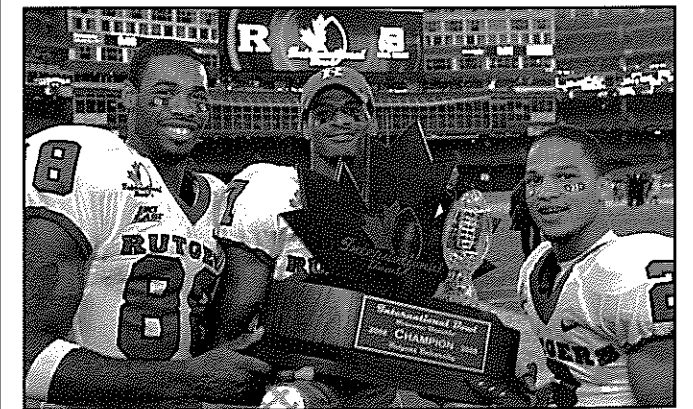

This fall, the Scarlet Knights welcome the return of 15 starters and a total of 45 players who saw action in more than half of the team's 13 games in 2007. However, there will be major losses felt on both the offensive and defensive sides of the ball.

All-American Ray Rice was an early entree into the NFL Draft and will be missed in the backfield as he set a school and BIG EAST record with 2,012 yards in his final season "On the Banks". Rutgers must also look to overcome the loss of two All-BIG EAST tackles in Pedro Sosa and Jeremy Zuttah, as well as All-BIG EAST defensive tackle Eric Foster.

Offensively, the Scarlet Knights return veteran quarterback Mike Teel who started every game last season. Teel will also have his top two targets in tow as Kenny Britt and Tiquan Underwood lead the returning wide receivers. The pair became the first in BIG EAST history and 26th in NCAA history to each record 1,000 yards receiving in the same season.

On the defensive side, Rutgers welcomes the return of senior safety Courtney Greene along with seven other starters. Greene appeared in all 13 games last year and has led the Scarlet Knights in tackles two of the past three seasons.

The special teams unit will have to fill the void left behind by Lou Groza Award semifinalist Jeremy Ito. PK San San Te and P Teddy Dellaganna will look to take over for Ito, who handled both the place-kicking and punting duties last season.

ACADEMIC EXCELLENCE...

The Rutgers football team was ranked No. 3 in the nation in the Academic Progress Rate according to the latest APR figures released by the NCAA in the spring of 2008.

The Scarlet Knights have a four-year APR score of 977, which covers the academic years of 2003-04, 2004-05, 2005-06 and 2006-07.

NCAA RELEASES ACADEMIC PROGRESS REPORT

Rutgers ranks third nationally with a 977

By KEITH SARGANT
STAFF WRITER

Like a proud father beaming over his child's report card, Rutgers football coach Greg Schiano admits he might have a hard time not flaunting his team's latest academic achievement.

"Anytime you have something you're proud of, you do want to share it with people," Schiano said. "You want to brag about your kids a little bit."

Schiano couldn't be blamed if he posted the Academic Progress Report released Tuesday by the NCAA on his refrigerator.

The Scarlet Knights rank third nationally among fellow Football Bowl Subdivision schools, recording an APR score of 977.

between the 2003-04 to 2006-07 academic years.

The APR, a measuring stick the NCAA uses to track the progress of each student-athlete, is a multiyear calculation factoring eligibility, retention, and graduation. By the NCAA's definition, it provides a clear picture of the academic culture in each sport.

Rutgers' athletes fared well across the board, averaging an average APR score of 972 for its 24 sports, while men's cross country, under the direction of Mike Mulqueen, and women's tennis, under Ben Buco's guidance, each recorded perfect APR scores of 1000.

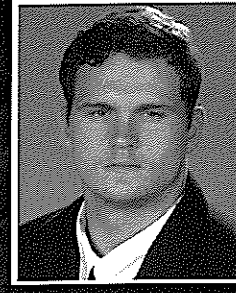

"I've always believed that at a great university there's no reason that academics and athletics can't co-exist and be mutually beneficial," Rutgers Athletics Director Bob Mulachy said. "This most recent APR report demonstrates our division's commitment to academics, and is a reflection of the hard work and dedication of our student-athletes, our coaches, and our academic support staff."

Wrestling was the only sport to fall below the NCAA's mandated cut score of 925, recording a 904. While the NCAA states that teams falling below 925 could face penalties, including loss of scholarships or a postseason ban, the wrestling

RUTGERS FOOTBALL

Entering his eighth season as head coach of the Rutgers football program, Greg Schiano has created what he started out to accomplish - build one of the top programs in the nation on a rock solid foundation - both on the field and in the classroom. Still, the ultimate goal remains the same for Schiano since the day he accepted the position on Dec. 1, 2000 - to win the National Championship.

The longest-tenured coach in the BIG EAST, Schiano has guided the Scarlet Knights to new heights throughout his career "On the Banks" - including consecutive bowl victories for the first time in school history last January with Rutgers' 52-30 victory over Ball State in the International Bowl.

The Scarlet Knights have played in a bowl for three consecutive seasons - another first in school history and just one of three BIG EAST programs to do so.

Rutgers is one of 34 teams in the nation to play in three consecutive bowls. Among BCS members, Rutgers is one of 25 schools to play in three straight bowl games.

Before Schiano's arrival at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights played in one bowl game in 131 seasons of football.

The on-field success under Schiano has led to a single-season attendance record at Rutgers Stadium as the program averaged over 40,000 fans per game for the second time in 2007. Temporary seating was installed in the end zone at Rutgers Stadium as the Scarlet Knights have played in front of 10 consecutive sell-out crowds at home.

Construction has begun on expanding Rutgers Stadium to increase the seating capacity to 56,000. The project is scheduled to be finished by the start of the 2009 season.

With the excitement surrounding Rutgers football at an all-time high, the on-field accolades for the players have continued under Schiano's leadership.

Seven players earned All-BIG EAST honors in 2007, including four First Team selections in offensive tackle Jeremy Zuttah, defensive tackle Eric Foster, running back Ray Rice and wide receiver Tiquan Underwood.

Linebacker Brandon Renkert became the third Scarlet Knight in five years to be a finalist for the Draddy Trophy, known as the "Academic Heisman." Renkert was also named a Second Team Academic All-American by ESPN the Magazine.

In addition to the All-America accolades in the classroom, four Scarlet Knights earned All-America honors for their performance on the field. Rice was named a First Team All-American by Rivals.com and a Second Team All-America by the Walter Camp Football Foundation, Associated Press, Sports Illustrated.com and The Sporting News. Rice was also a finalist for the Doak Walker Award, an honor given annually to the nation's top running back.

Eric Foster was named a Second Team All-America selection by The Sporting News while offensive lineman Anthony Davis and defensive back Joe Lefeged collected Freshman All-America honors last season.

The Scarlet Knights continue to work towards their ultimate goal after a sensational 2006 campaign. Rutgers ended the season with a ranking of #12 in the national polls. The success Rutgers has achieved on the field was something Schiano envisioned from the first day he became the leader of the Scarlet Knights. At his introductory press conference, Schiano stated "We're going to win at Rutgers and we're going to do it the right way." The 2006 season was complete with a convincing 37-10 victory over Kansas State in the Texas Bowl, the first bowl championship in school history.

Schiano, the 2006 National Coach of the Year and BIG EAST Coach of the Year, has been the architect of transforming the Rutgers program into one of the nation's best. The Scarlet Knights earned their first national top-10 ranking in 2006 and won 11 games for the second time in school history.

"All along we have said the same thing," said Schiano. "What we're doing here, we're just scratching the surface. The sky is the limit here at Rutgers and we're going to do great things. We've recruited really great young guys in this program and this is home. The same things I said at this podium the first time in this room that were true then are still true now. This state and the New York and Philadelphia metropolitan areas have all started to come together here and that's only going to get better. It's something that's never been tapped, so to me, this is a great, great situation."

A New Jersey native who returned to his roots to take over the reigns of the Rutgers football program, Schiano has led the Scarlet Knights throughout his tenure with the energy, passion and boundless enthusiasm that have been the hallmarks of his career.

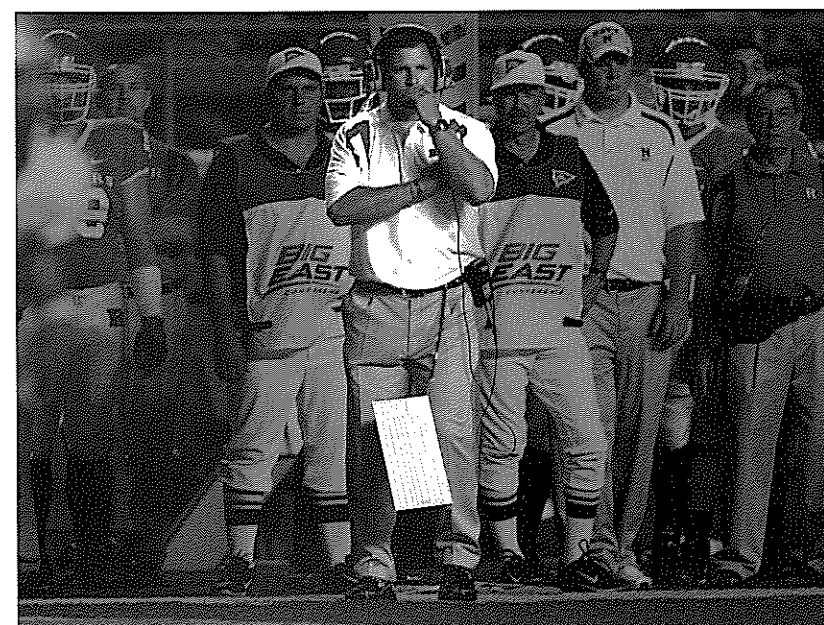

Schiano's impact as head coach is evidenced in all aspects of the Rutgers football program. Schiano and his staff have continued to upgrade the level of talent by recruiting student-athletes with outstanding athleticism and great character, all part of the building process that continues to result in on-field success.

Rutgers now boasts one of the nation's finest football complexes, highlighted by an expansive strength and conditioning facility, a state-of-the-art training room and academic support facilities which include classrooms, study rooms and computer labs.

With a state-of-the-art scoreboard and FieldTurf playing surface in place, Rutgers Stadium continues to be one of the most scenic settings for college football in the country. Schiano's arrival signaled a new era at Rutgers, and he continues to guide the program at New Jersey's State University to the elite of the Football Bowl Sub-division. His tireless work ethic, winning attitude and commitment to the University are pillars which generate excitement throughout the "State of Rutgers."

Schiano, who grew up in Wyckoff and graduated from Ramapo High School, took over as the 27th head coach of the nation's oldest college football program on Dec. 1, 2000. On that day, Schiano proclaimed his vision of excellence for Rutgers football.

"This program will be built on a rock foundation," he said. "It will take longer than building it on stilts, but when it's built, it will be built forever. This is where I started; this is where I was striving to get back to. I'm thrilled to be here. It's time."

Under Schiano's guidance, several former Scarlet Knights have advanced to the NFL. Tight end L.J. Gary Brackett was a captain of the XLI Super Bowl Champion Indianapolis Colts, while Giants co-captain Shaun O'Hara became the latest Scarlet Knight to win a Super Bowl, leading New York in Super Bowl XLII.

In the 2008 NFL Draft, two Rutgers players were selected - Ray Rice in the second round to the Baltimore Ravens and Jeremy Zuttah to the Tampa Bay Buccaneers in the third round - giving RU five draft picks in the last two years, the most in school history in consecutive seasons.

Eric Foster (Free Agent, Indianapolis Colts) and Ron Girault (Free Agent, Kansas City Chiefs) also signed professional contracts in April. In all, 16 former RU players are currently in the NFL, 15 of which were coached by Schiano at Rutgers.

In the 2007 NFL Draft, a school-record number of Scarlet Knights were drafted, including Brian Leonard in the second round to the St. Louis Rams. In all, seven players Cameron Stephenson (5th Round, Pittsburgh Steelers), Clark Harris (7th Round, Green Bay Packers), Darnell Stapleton (Free Agent, Pittsburgh Steelers), Derrick Roberson (Free Agent, Houston Texans), Ramel Meekins (Free Agent, Indianapolis Colts), Manny Collins (Free Agent, New York Jets) and Joe Porter (Free Agent, New Orleans Saints) from the 2006 squad signed NFL contracts prior to the 2007 NFL season.

Other NFL Knights from Schiano's reign include OL Trohn Carswell (Carolina Panthers), DT Gary Gibson (Baltimore Ravens), DB Brandon Haw (Miami Dolphins), DB Jarvis Johnson (Baltimore Ravens), WR Aaron Martin (Dallas Cowboys), DE Raheem Orr (New York Giants), DT J'Vonne Parker (Cleveland Browns) and RB Dennis Thomas (Kansas City Chiefs).

Another former standout, defensive back Nate Jones of the Miami Dolphins, was a remarkable talent on the field and in the classroom while at Rutgers. Jones became Rutgers football's first

The academic success is not just limited to individual players under Schiano, but the entire team. In the NCAA's most recent report, released in May, the Rutgers football team tied for third in the nation with an APR score of

By KEITH SARGENT

Like a proud father beaming over his child's report card, Rutgers football coach Greg Schiano admits he might have a hard time not flaunting his team's latest academic achievement.

"Anytime you have something you're proud of, you do want to share it with people," Schiano said. "You want to brag about your kids a little bit."

Schiano couldn't be blamed if he patted the Academic Progress Report released Tuesday by the NCAA on his refrigerator.

The Scarlet Knights rank third nationally among fellow Football Bowl Subdivision schools, recording an APR score of 977 between the 2003-04 to 2006-07 academic years.

The APR is a measuring stick the NCAA uses to track the progress of each student-athlete. It is a multiyear calculation factoring eligibility, retention, and graduation. By the NCAA's definition, it provides a clear picture of the academic culture in each sport.

Rutgers' athletes fared well across the board, averaging an average APR score of 977 for its 24 sports, while men's cross country, under the direction of Mike Mulqueen, and women's tennis, under Ben Bucca's guidance, each recorded perfect APR scores of 1000.

"I've always believed that at a great university there's no reason that academics and athletics can't co-exist and be mutually beneficial," Rutgers Athletics Director Bob Mulcahy said. "This most recent APR report demonstrates our division's commitment to academics, and is a reflection of the hard work and dedication of our student-athletes, our coaches and our academic support staff."

Wrestling was the only sport to fall below the NCAA's mandated cut score of 825, recording a 804. While the NCAA states that teams falling 977 - the highest mark of any state university. The Scarlet Knights were the only program in the nation to have an APR rate in the top five nationally and to have won a bowl game last season.

Schiano, also the team's defensive coordinator since 2005, has guided a unit that ranked 13th nationally in total defense and boasted the nation's second-best pass defense in 2007.

Achievement and success are nothing new to Schiano. Wherever he has been in his coaching career, success has followed. During Schiano's two-year stint as defensive coordinator at Miami (1999-2000), the Hurricanes posted a 20-5 record, including an 11-1 mark, the No. 2 national ranking and the Sugar Bowl championship in 2000. The Hurricanes boasted one of the top scoring defenses in the nation in 2000, and were the stingiest defensive squad in the BIG EAST Conference.

Under Schiano, the Miami defense showed rapid and marked improvement in his two seasons as defensive coordinator. The 'Canes defense closed out the 1999 season by not allowing a passing touchdown in 27 quarters, and was 12th nationally in scoring defense (allowing 17.2 points per game). In 2000, Miami surrendered just 15.5 points per game, the fewest allowed by any team in the BIG EAST and No. 5 nationally.

"When I came to Rutgers, I was a boy. Now I'm a man. What Coach Schiano has done for me; I can't thank him enough."

- Brian Leonard,
former Rutgers running back and 2007 second-round draft pick of the Saint Louis Rams

Prior to his assignment at Miami, Schiano spent three seasons in the NFL with the Chicago Bears (1996-98). Schiano was a defensive assistant in 1996-97, and was the defensive backfield coach in 1998. The 1997 Chicago Bears' third-down defense showed measurable improvement under Schiano's leadership, finishing first in the NFC and fourth in the NFL as opponents converted just 31.7% of their third-down attempts. In 1996, the Bears' pass defense climbed from 27th to 11th in fewest yards allowed. Schiano was defensive backfield coach at Penn State University from 1991-95. While at Penn State, the Nittany Lions had 58 wins and made six bowl appearances in his tenure. Overall, in nine seasons as an assistant on the collegiate level, Schiano's teams advanced to eight bowl games.

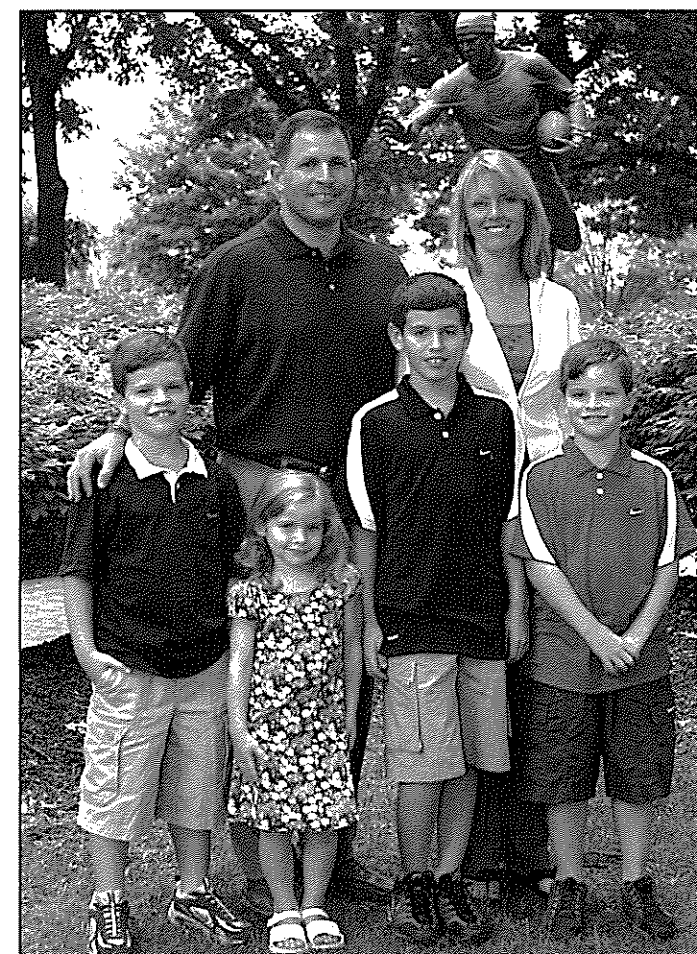

Schiano's first assignment as a coach in the college ranks came during the 1989 season, when he served as a graduate assistant coach at Rutgers, following a one-year stint as an assistant coach at his alma mater, Ramapo High School. Schiano was a standout linebacker at Ramapo, playing for Coach Mike Miello. After his initial stint at Rutgers in 1989, he moved on to Penn State as a graduate assistant coach in 1990. Schiano's influence reaches beyond the college playing fields, as his stable of NFL players continues to grow each season. In addition to former Scarlet Knights like Smith, Brackett and Jones, Schiano has helped guide such NFL standouts as Ed Reed, Dan Morgan, Kim Herring and Mike Rumph.

Schiano is a 1988 graduate of Bucknell University where he was a three-year letterman at linebacker. He was named to The Sporting News All-America Preseason Team in 1987. He served as team captain his senior year and, as a junior, he topped the team with 114 tackles and was named all-conference. Schiano and his wife, Christy, are the proud parents of four children, Joey, John, Matt and Katie.

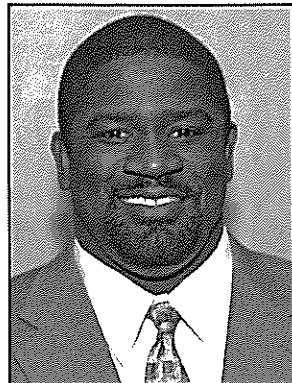

"The difference is confidence. Rutgers comes in with the belief that they can play with any team in the nation. The big reason for that starts with their head coach, what he brings to the table and the confidence he instills in his team."

- Kirk Herbstreit,
ESPN College Football Analyst

GARY BROWN

RUNNING BACKS

Gary Brown begins his first season as running backs coach on the Rutgers sideline.

A former standout running back and defensive back at Penn State from 1987-90, Brown spent the previous two seasons as offensive coordinator at Susquehanna University. In 2007 while under the guidance of Brown, Crusaders sophomore running back Dave Paveletz produced the second-highest single-season rushing total in program history and was named first-team All-Liberty League.

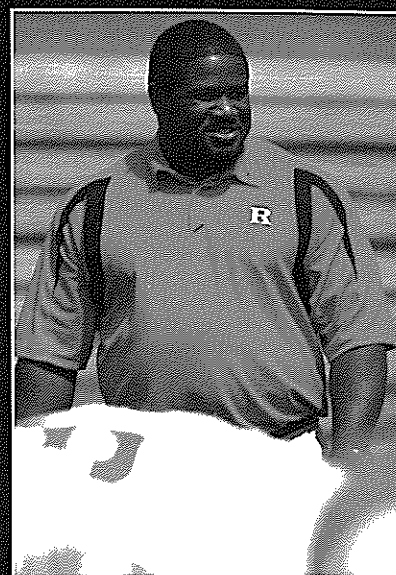

A native of Williamsport, Pa., Brown played eight seasons in the NFL after the formerly-known Houston Oilers selected him in the eighth round of the 1991 NFL Draft. Brown played for the Oilers, Chargers and Giants during his NFL career and rushed for 1,000 yards twice, including 1,002 in 1993 en route to All-AFC honors with Houston.

Following his retirement from the NFL, Brown moved into the coaching ranks as offensive coordinator at Williamsport Area High School from 2000 to 2002, before moving to Lycoming College in the summer of 2003 as running backs coach.

Brown also coached running backs at New York Giants training camp in 2005, then worked with the Green Bay Packers in 2006 and Carolina Panthers in 2007 as part of the NFL's Minority Coaching Fellowship program. He also coached tight ends at the Penn State Football Camp in June 2005.

In his first season in Happy Valley, Brown made an immediate impact, recording one of the top-10 longest runs from scrimmage in program history with an 80-yard scamper against Syracuse. As a sophomore, he led the Nittany Lions in rushing yards and finished his career among the school's all-time leading rushers. During Brown's senior season at Penn State in 1990, Greg Schiano was a graduate assistant on the Nittany Lion squad.

Brown and his wife, Kim are the proud parents of daughters Malena and Dorianna and son Tre.

KIRK CIARROCCA

WIDE RECEIVERS

Kirk Ciarrocca begins his first season as wide receivers coach at Rutgers. Ciarrocca most recently served as the offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at the University of Delaware for six seasons.

In his six years at Delaware, the Blue Hens posted a combined record of 52-26, advanced to the NCAA Football Championship Subdivision playoffs three times, and captured consecutive Atlantic 10 Conference titles in 2003 and 2004.

Ciarrocca played an important role in mentoring a Blue Hen offense that helped Delaware post a 15-1 record and capture the NCAA FCS National Championship in 2003. Led by All-American quarterback Andy Hall, the Blue Hens led the Atlantic 10 Conference in scoring offense (34.7 ppg) and rushing offense (207.6) and ranked among the Top 20 nationally in both categories.

The Blue Hen offensive unit was impressive again during the 2007 season when Delaware posted an 11-4 record and advanced to the NCAA FCS title game. Delaware, paced by consensus All-Americans in quarterback Joe Flacco, running back Omar Cuff, and offensive tackle Mike Byrne, led the Colonial Athletic Association in scoring (36.2, 11th in NCAA), total offense (460.6, 6th in NCAA), and passing offense (289.5, 11th in NCAA).

A first round selection in the 2008 NFL Draft, Flacco threw for over 4,000 yards in 2007, while Cuff set an NCAA FCS record with 39 total touchdowns. Both Flacco and Cuff each set numerous school single-game, season, and career marks under Ciarrocca's tutelage.

Ciarrocca, who earned his bachelor's degree from Temple in 1990 and his master of education degree from Temple in 1991, came to Delaware after serving the previous two seasons as wide receivers coach at the University of Pennsylvania.

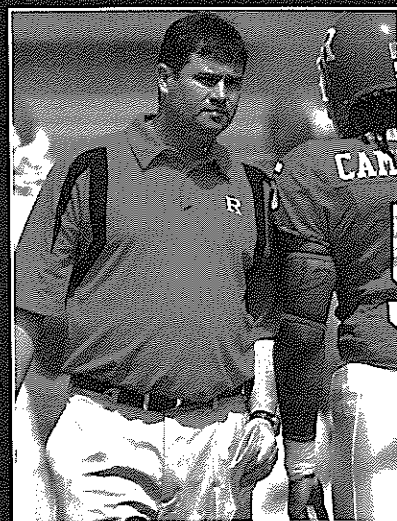

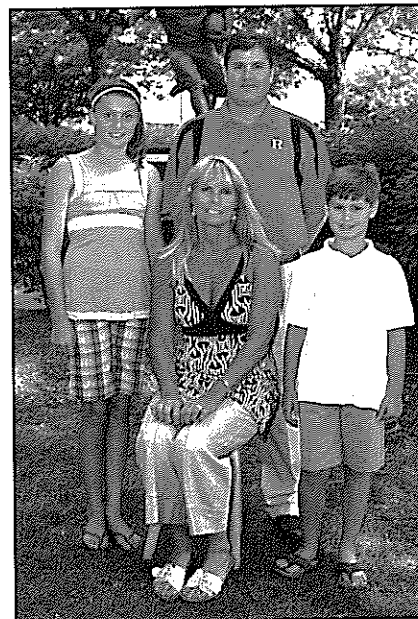

While at Penn, he helped the Quakers post a record of 7-3 in 2000 and 8-1 in 2001. The Quakers were Ivy League Champions in 2000 and league runner-up in 2001, ranking among the national leaders in passing offense both seasons. Penn ranked No. 1 in NCAA FCS in team passing offense (342.7) and fourth in total offense (474.6) in 2000 and was No. 4 nationally in total offense (403.1) in 2001. Prior to coaching at Penn, Ciarrocca served as receivers coach and junior varsity head coach at Princeton from 1996-99.

A native of Lewisberry, Pa., Ciarrocca played defensive back at Red Land High School and at Juniata College before a knee injury ended his career. He transferred to Temple University where he received his degree in 1990.

Ciarrocca began his coaching career as an assistant at Red Land High School and St. Joseph's Prep in Philadelphia before serving as a graduate assistant at Temple during the 1990 and 1991 seasons.

He moved on to coaching stints at Western Connecticut State, where he served as Passing Game Coordinator in 1992; served as Passing Game Coordinator at Delaware Valley College in 1993; and Offensive Coordinator at Western Connecticut in 1994-95 before heading to Princeton.

Ciarrocca and his wife Kim are the proud parents of daughter Colby and son Cade.

Gary Emanuel begins his first season as Rutgers defensive line coach after most recently holding the same position at San Jose State.

Emanuel has more than 20 years of coaching experience, including a two-year stint in the National Football League. In 2007, he was one of 26 coaches invited to participate in the NCAA's annual Expert Coaches Academy.

Before heading to San Jose State, Emanuel spent the 2005 and 2006 seasons as defensive line coach in the NFL with the San Francisco 49ers. He took part in the NFL Minority Coaching Fellowship, enjoying stints with the Oakland Raiders, Arizona Cardinals, Cleveland Browns and Chicago Bears. Emanuel was also selected for the Ralph C. Wilson Minority Coaching Fellowship with the Buffalo Bills.

A native of Philadelphia, Pa., Emanuel has coached for three BCS programs during his career. He spent three seasons coaching the defensive line at Washington State (1994-96), three at Syracuse (1991-93) as the defensive line coach and eight years at Purdue (1997-2004).

During his time with the Boilermakers, he coached the defensive ends, tackles and was later promoted to assistant head coach for his final two seasons.

Emanuel has been part of 11 teams that participated in bowl games and coached 12 players who have gone on to play in the NFL, including five active roster members. He mentored defensive end Anthony Spencer at Purdue, who went on to be a first round draft choice of the Dallas Cowboys.

A 1982 graduate of Plymouth State College, Emanuel began his coaching career at his alma mater. In four seasons, he served as an offensive line coach and offensive coordinator. Emanuel was also the head men's basketball coach for two seasons. He later moved onto West Chester University in 1985, where he coached the defensive line for one season. Emanuel has also coached at the University of Massachusetts and at Dartmouth College.

Emanuel and his wife, Angela, recently relocated from San Jose to the New Jersey area.

KYLE FLOOD

OFFENSIVE LINE/RUN GAME COORDINATOR/ASSISTANT HEAD COACH

Kyle Flood begins his first season as Assistant Head Coach for the Scarlet Knights and his fourth season overall as the offensive line coach. Since Flood's arrival "On the Banks," Rutgers has consistently produced one of the top offensive line units in college football.

In 2007, Flood tutored an offensive line that ranked second in the nation with just 10 sacks allowed. In the last two seasons, Rutgers has allowed just 18 sacks, the fewest amount in the nation. In addition, the Rutgers offense became the first in NCAA history to have a 3,000-yard passer, 2,000-yard rusher and two, 1,000-yard receivers in the same season.

The Rutgers offense was ranked 18th nationally in total offense in 2007. The offensive line featured two of the top tackles in the nation in Pedro Sosa and Jeremy Zuttah. Both players earned All-BIG EAST honors and were also invited to the NFL Scouting Combine in Indianapolis with Zuttah becoming a third round selection by the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Sophomore tackle Anthony Davis also received Freshman All-America accolades by five different media outlets and was a Rivals.com All-Bowl team selection.

Flood added run game coordinator to his duties in 2007 and his offensive line helped pave the way for All-American running back Ray Rice, who rushed for a school and BIG EAST record 2,012 yards that season. Rice went on to be selected as the 55th overall pick in the NFL Draft by the Baltimore Ravens.

In 2006, Flood coached an offensive line that helped Rutgers to one of its most productive seasons as the group relinquished the fewest sacks in the nation with just eight. His unit was regarded as one of the best in the country and featured current NFL linemen Cameron Stephenson and Darnell Stapleton. Also among that stout group of offensive linemen were All-BIG EAST tackles Sosa and Zuttah. Flood's corps of hard-nosed blockers helped guide Rice to an All-America season, as he finished second in the nation with 1,794 yards.

Flood came to Rutgers after three seasons at the University of Delaware, where he helped the Blue Hens to a 30-11 record, including a 15-1 mark and the NCAA FCS National Championship in 2003. In 2004, the Blue Hens were 9-4 and shared the Atlantic 10 title. In addition to serving as offensive line coach at Delaware, he was also assistant head coach and recruiting coordinator.

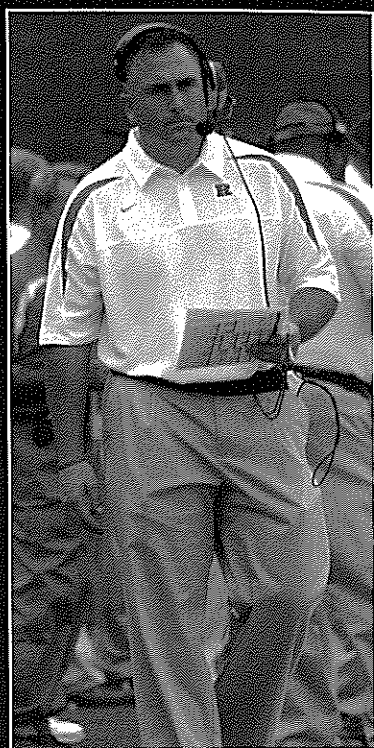

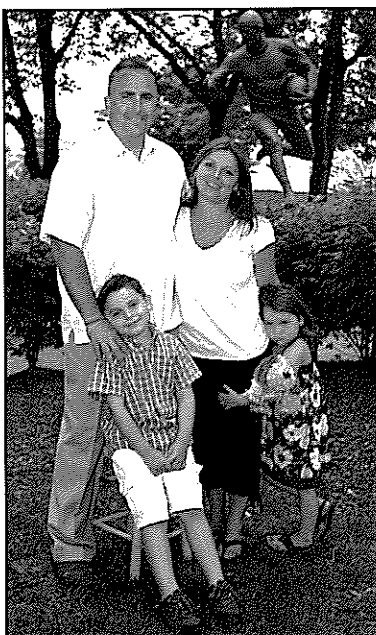

In its national championship season, Flood's offensive line helped Delaware rank ninth nationally in scoring, 20th in rushing and 33rd in total offense while allowing just 25 sacks in 16 games. In 2004, the Blue Hens were third in the Atlantic 10 in rushing and allowed just 19 sacks in 13 games. In his first season at Delaware (2002), the Blue Hens' offensive line allowed 15 sacks in 12 games, the lowest total allowed by a UD team since 1991.

Prior to his three seasons at Delaware, Flood was offensive line coach at Hofstra from 1997-2001. While at Hofstra, he helped the Pride earn berths in the NCAA FCS playoffs in 1997, 1999, 2000 and 2001. The Pride were among the top offensive teams in the nation during his tenure, ranking second in total offense, fourth in passing, fifth in scoring in 2001. During that same year, the Pride took the Atlantic 10 Championship in their first season in the conference.

Flood, a 1993 graduate of Iona College, was a four-year letterwinner for the Gaels. A high school teammate of former Rutgers All-American tight end Marco Battaglia at St. Francis Prep High School in Queens, N.Y., Flood earned first team All-Liberty Conference honors in 1991 and served as team captain of the Gaels in 1992.

Flood's first college coaching position came in 1995-96 as offensive line coach at Long Island University-C.W. Post. While coaching at C.W. Post, he helped the team to the ECAC Division II Eastern title in 1996. Flood began his coaching career at St. Francis Prep in 1993, as both offensive and defensive line coach in 1993-94.

Flood and his wife, Amy, are the proud parents of a son, Kyle, and a daughter, Isabella.

BOB FRASER

LINEBACKERS

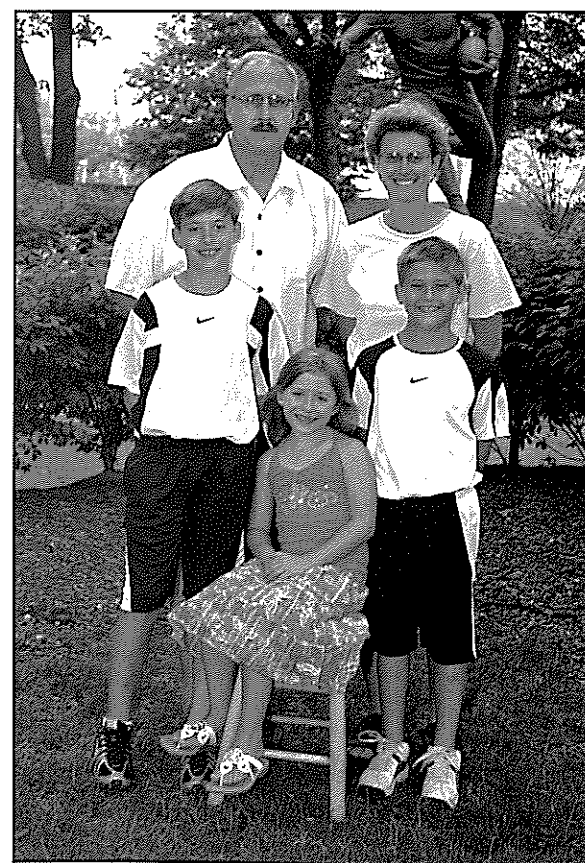

Bob Fraser enters his second season as linebackers coach after joining the Rutgers staff in July 2006 as Assistant to the Head Coach. He brings a wealth of knowledge and experience to the program with more than two decades on the sidelines.

In his first season, he guided a unit that helped Rutgers achieve national rankings in pass defense (fifth), total defense (17th), sacks (12th), tackles for loss (20th) and scoring defense (30th). He also tutored three linebackers, Kevin Malast, Damaso Munoz and Brandon Renkart, who remained ranked among the conference's top linebackers in 2007.

Prior to joining the Scarlet Knight staff, Fraser served nine seasons as linebackers coach at Colgate University. During his tenure at Colgate, he coached three Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year honorees and nine All-Patriot League selections. Under Fraser's tutelage, two players earned All-America honors, highlighted by Jared Nepa, who was named the Linebacker of the Year in the Northeast in 2005.

Before taking his post at Colgate, Fraser served as the inside and outside linebackers coach at Allegheny College during the 1997 season. Fraser also enjoyed a four-year stint at the College of the Holy Cross in 1992 where he coached the defensive line, before one year as offensive tackles and tight ends coach at Northeastern University.

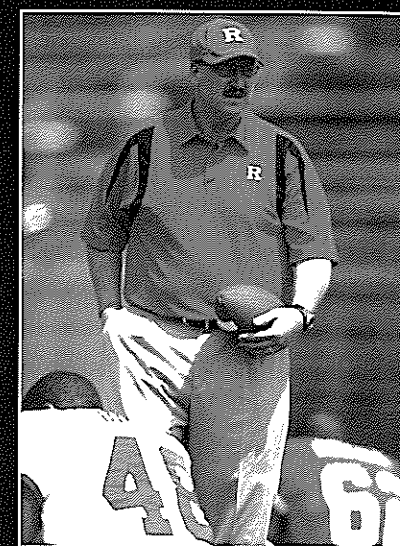

Fraser started his coaching career as a graduate assistant coach at Allegheny College for the 1985 and 1986 seasons. He served in the same role at Rutgers for the 1987 and 1988 seasons, where he worked with then graduate assistant coach Greg Schiano for five months leading up to the 1989 season.

He returned to Allegheny for the 1989 season in his first full-time position, serving three seasons as linebackers coach. The Gators were undefeated for two seasons and in 1990 won the NCAA Division III National Championship.

Fraser was a four-year letterwinner at Allegheny where he earned All-America honors on the defensive line as a sophomore and served as team captain in his junior and senior seasons. He was inducted into both the Allegheny College and East Allegheny High School Hall of Fames.

During his three-year tenure as Director of Speed and Skill Development, the Scarlet Knights made marked improvements in those areas which translated into great success on the field.

Hewitt, a graduate of Dwight Morrow High School in Englewood, enjoyed a successful collegiate career at the University of Cincinnati (1992-96), before going on to the NFL's New Orleans Saints. At Cincinnati, Hewitt was a three-year starter in the secondary, and a two-time All-Conference USA selection (1995-96). He was also

JOHN McNULTY

OFFENSIVE COORDINATOR/QUARTERBACKS

John McNulty enters his fifth season on the Scarlet Knights' sideline. He has overseen the development of the quarterbacks the past two years and was elevated to offensive coordinator prior to last season, while continuing his role with the signal callers. McNulty joined the staff in 2004 and served as the wide receivers coach for two seasons before taking on duties as the assistant offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach in 2006.

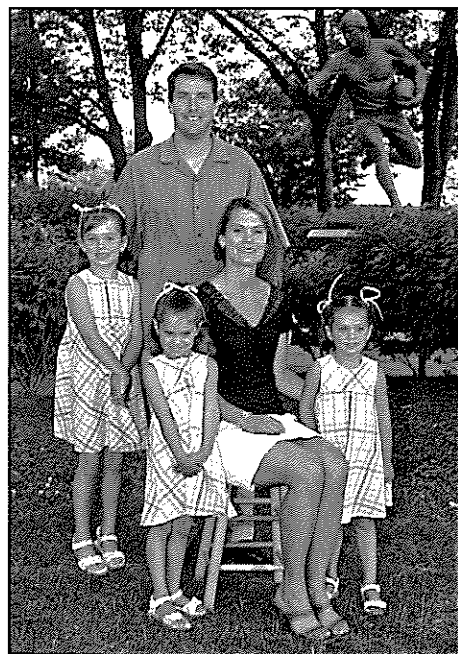

In his first season as offensive coordinator, Rutgers enjoyed one of its most prolific offensive seasons in school history. The 2007 Scarlet Knights were the first team in NCAA history to have a 3,000-yard passer (Mike Teel), 2,000-yard rusher (Ray Rice) and a pair of 1,000-yard receivers (Tiquan Underwood and Kenny Britt) in the same season. The 2007 squad was one of just eight teams in 138 seasons of football at Rutgers to score 300 points in a season. The Scarlet Knights set school records for scoring (426), first downs (294) and total offense (5,841) last fall. Underwood and Britt became just the 26th pair of teammates in NCAA history and the first in BIG EAST history to each have at least 1,000 yards receiving in the same season. Britt led the BIG EAST in 2007 with 1,232 yards – the fifth-best total in a single season in league history – and Underwood finished with 1,100 yards.

In McNulty's first season as offensive coordinator, Rutgers posted five of the top 10 offensive performances in the seven-year Greg Schiano era. Rutgers has posted 30 wins and appeared in three bowl games in McNulty's four years on staff. He saw a pair of offensive standouts selected in April's NFL Draft, including second-round pick RB Ray Rice (Baltimore Ravens) and third-round pick OT Jeremy Zuttah (Tampa Bay Buccaneers).

Prior to joining the staff at Rutgers, McNulty spent six seasons as an assistant coach in the National Football League with the Jacksonville Jaguars from 1998-2002, and the Dallas Cowboys in 2003. During his six-year career as an assistant in the NFL, his teams advanced to the playoffs three times. McNulty also had seven years of collegiate coaching experience with the University of Michigan (1991-94) and the University of Connecticut (1995-97), before beginning his tenure at Rutgers.

McNulty served as the Jaguars' quality control coach in 1998 and 1999, before being named wide receivers coach in 2000. While in Jacksonville, McNulty worked with one of the NFL's top receiving duos in Jimmy Smith and Keenan McCardell. During the 2000 and 2001 seasons, the pair combined for 390 receptions, and 4,903 yards, while Smith earned All-Pro honors both seasons. In 2002, Smith notched 80 receptions for 1,027 yards, the seventh consecutive season that he surpassed the 1,000-yard mark.

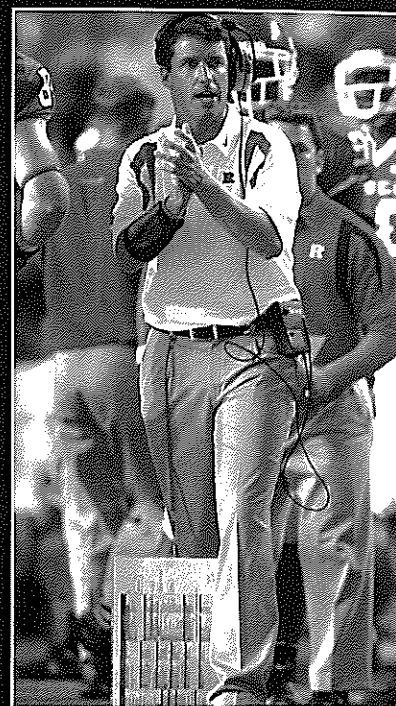

McNulty helped Jacksonville to NFL playoff appearances in 1998, with an 11-5 regular-season record, and again in 1999, with a 14-2 regular-season mark. McNulty added to that with Dallas in 2003, as he helped the Cowboys to a 10-6 record and a berth in the playoffs.

A safety as a collegian at Penn State from 1988-90, McNulty was a member of two Nittany Lion bowl teams. He began his coaching career as a graduate assistant at the University of Michigan in 1991. Michigan won two Big Ten titles and appeared in four bowl games, including two Rose Bowl appearances, in McNulty's tenure with the Wolverines. In 1994, McNulty worked with standout wide receivers Amani Toomer (now with the New York Giants) and Mercury Hayes (one-time Atlanta Falcon).

McNulty then moved to Connecticut in 1995, working with the wide receivers and special teams. There, he coached wide receivers that surpassed the 1,000-yard mark in receptions in both 1996 and 1997. He helped UConn WR Carl Bond earn All-America notice in 1997.

McNulty, and his wife Kim, are the proud parents of daughters, Abigail, Allison and Megan.

Pinkham's defensive unit ranked top-10 in the nation in rushing defense three times, twice in passing defense and once in total defense. The Raiders were fifth in the nation in pass efficiency defense and ninth in total defense in 2004. His defensive unit produced 37 All-Patriot League performers, three Patriot League Defensive Player of the Year honorees, two All-Americans.

In 1999, he directed the Raiders to one of their greatest defensive efforts while setting the school record for fewest total yards and rushing yards allowed in a season.

In his two seasons coaching Colgate's linebackers, Mike Gallighugh led the nation in tackling in 2006 and was named a two-time Second Team All-America. He was twice a finalist for the Buck Buchanan Award, given to the top defensive player in the Football Championship Subdivision.

Prior to Colgate, Pinkham was defensive coordinator and associate head coach at the College of the Holy Cross for four seasons. For the first two seasons he coached the outside linebackers, before moving over to the secondary.

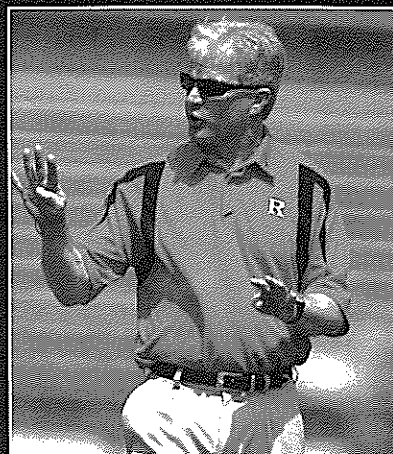

He also enjoyed a 12-year stint at the University of New Hampshire, where he was secondary coach during his entire stay and defensive coordinator the last seven seasons. In 1989, he joined the staff at the University of Minnesota as secondary coach.

CHRIS RIPPON SPECIAL TEAMS COORDINATOR

Chris Rippon enters his first season on the Scarlet Knights' coaching staff. He joins the staff as Rutgers' special teams coordinator after spending the last three years at Ole Miss as special teams coordinator and defensive backs coach.

While a member of the Rebels' staff, Rippon guided kicker Joshua Shene to Freshman All-America honors and produced several special teams stand-outs. Rippon worked with cornerback Trumaine McBride, who was a seventh-round NFL draft pick of the Chicago Bears in 2006 and started nine games for the Bears last fall.

Prior to his tenure at Ole Miss, Rippon spent 12 years at Syracuse, including serving as the defensive coordinator from 1999-2003 along with the duties of special teams coordinator from 1995-98 and in 2004. He was promoted to assistant head coach in 2004 while overseeing the safeties in his final two seasons in Syracuse. During his time with the Orange, Rippon was part of a staff that won or shared four BIG EAST Championships in 1996, 1997, 1998 and 2004 and appeared in the 1996 Gator, 1996 Liberty, 1998 Fiesta, 1999 Orange, 1999 Music City, 2001 Insight and 2004 Champs bowls.

In 2003, Rippon's first season working with the safeties, strong safety Diamond Ferri set the Syracuse single-season record for solo tackles by a defensive back (75) and free safety Anthony Smith recorded five interceptions.

From 1999 to 2003 Rippon served as Syracuse's defensive coordinator. His 1999 unit was one of the nation's top-15 defenses throughout the season. The 2001 defense accumulated 40 sacks - the second most in SU history - and 30 turnovers. Rippon also served as SU's linebackers coach from 1993 through 2000.

In Rippon's four seasons as SU's special teams coordinator, three of Rippon's pupils - Marvin Harrison, Quinton Spotwood and Kevin Johnson - earned All-America honors as return specialists. In 1998, Johnson returned a pair of kickoffs for touchdowns, including one for 100 yards. Johnson, who was an All-BIG EAST selection at kick returner and wide receiver, still holds the SU and BIG EAST records for the most career kickoff returns for scores with four.

In 1997, Syracuse had one of its most outstanding special teams units in school history. Spotwood tied an NCAA record with four punts returned for touchdowns, and Johnson tied an SU record with two kickoffs returned for touchdowns. Spotwood and Johnson were the league's Special Teams Player of the Year and All-BIG EAST selections at both wide receiver and punt returner in 1997 and 1998, respectively.

Rippon is a 1982 graduate of Southern Connecticut State, where he played football and earned a degree in physical education. Rippon received his master's degree in agency counseling from Western Connecticut State in 1985.

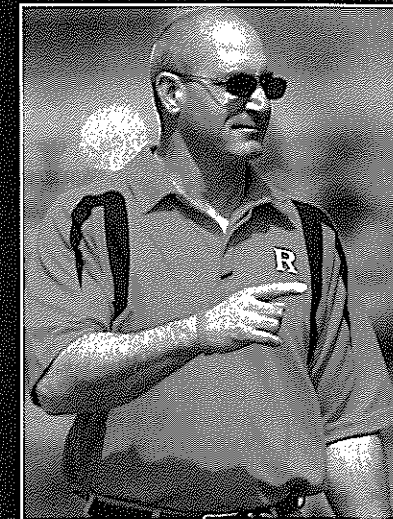

After graduating from Southern Connecticut State, Rippon got his first coaching job as a graduate assistant at Western Connecticut State. He was promoted to defensive coordinator and Assistant Director of Athletics in 1984. He was named the head coach in 1987 where he served for three years before becoming the defensive coordinator at Boston University.

During Rippon's tenure at Western Connecticut State, the school earned the 1985 New England Football Conference title.

He has mentored several professional players throughout his extensive coaching career, including Kevin Abrams (Detroit Lions), Keith Bulluck (Tennessee Titans), Morlon Greenwood (Houston Texans), Marvin Harrison (Indianapolis Colts), Nate Hemsley (Carolina Panthers), Kevin Johnson (Detroit Lions), Tebucky Jones (New England Patriots), Olindo Mare (Seattle Seahawks), Kevin Mitchell (Washington Redskins), Antwaune Ponds (Washington Redskins) and Dwight Freeney (Indianapolis Colts).

A native of Lincoln Park, N.J., Rippon and his wife, Lisa, have four children: sons Chris and Matthew, and twin daughters Jillian and Samantha. Chris is a freshman on the football team at Rutgers.

JOE SUSAN

TIGHT ENDS/RECRUITING COORDINATOR

Joe Susan is in his eighth season as a member of the Scarlet Knights' coaching staff. He was named Recruiting Coordinator in February, 2004, and has served as tight ends coach since the 2003 season. He has served on the Rutgers staff since head coach Greg Schiano took over the program prior to the 2001 season.

Susan has more than 28 years of experience in the collegiate ranks, with stints as a head coach, offensive coordinator, offensive line coach, and tight ends coach. As recruiting coordinator, he has been integral in assembling the current members of the Rutgers football program – a program which has posted 19 victories, has been ranked nationally, and has earned back-to-back bowl victories over the last two seasons.

Susan has directed a deep corps of tight ends that included former three-time All-BIG EAST selection Clark Harris, a seventh-round draft choice of the Green Bay Packers in 2007. Harris was a three-time John Mackey Award candidate as the nation's top tight end from 2004-06 and held the third-longest streak for consecutive games with a reception in BIG EAST history (38-straight games) upon his graduation.

A native of South River, N.J., Susan returned to his New Jersey roots to join the Rutgers staff in 2001 after a memorable 2000 campaign, when he served as head coach at Davidson and led the Wildcats to a 10-0 record, the only unbeaten team in school history and a single-season record for wins. That year, the Football Championship Subdivision Independent Sports Information Directors Association named him Coach of the Year. In 2000, Susan received a Presidential Citation from the University of Delaware (his alma mater) for outstanding achievement.

Prior to the undefeated season at Davidson, Susan spent nine years as offensive coordinator at Princeton (1991-99). He also served briefly as offensive line coach at Memphis, before accepting the challenge to become the head coach at Davidson.

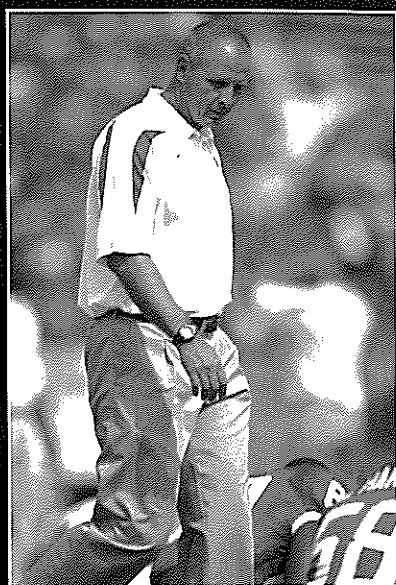

Susan was offensive line coach at Bucknell from 1981-88, when he took on the added responsibility as associate head coach for two seasons with the Bison. During his tenure at Bucknell, he recruited Rutgers head coach Greg Schiano to play for the Bison. Susan also recruited offensive lineman Jay Butler, who is presently the Scarlet Knights' Assistant Athletic Director and Head Strength and Conditioning coach.

Susan enjoyed an outstanding playing career at Delaware (1973-76), as his teams compiled a 36-12-1 record in his tenure there. During his sophomore season, the Blue Hens were the NCAA Division II national runner-up.

Susan began his career in coaching in 1978 at Delaware, as a graduate assistant. After a year as an assistant at Gettysburg, he returned to his alma mater for one season.

Susan and his wife, Cynthia, are the parents of one son, Matthew, and daughters Jessica and Julia, who both attend Rutgers University.

SCOTT WALKER

DIRECTOR OF FOOTBALL ACADEMIC SUPPORT

Scott Walker enters his fifth season at Rutgers as the Director of Football Academic Support. In his role, Walker oversees the entire academic program for the Rutgers football team.

In the most recent NCAA Academic Progress Report (APR), the Rutgers football squad ranked third nationally with a mark of 977. In the last two years under Walker's guidance, the Rutgers football program has ranked in the top seven nationally (ranked seventh last year) and has achieved the top APR of any Football Bowl Subdivision state university in the nation and also led the BIG EAST in an APR rate for a football program.

Under Walker and his staff, Rutgers has had two National Football Foundation Scholar Athletes in Brian Leonard and Brandon Renkart. Leonard received the prestigious Draddy Trophy, recognized as the "Academic Heisman," in 2006.

Prior to his tenure at Rutgers, Walker spent three seasons as an assistant football coach at Cornell. Walker was named the running backs coach at Cornell in the spring of 2001.

Before joining the Cornell staff, Walker served five seasons at Georgia Tech, including three as the director of academics for the football team. In 1997, he was the assistant director of football operations. Prior to Tech, Walker was a coach at the University of Maine for six years, including the final two as the running game coordinator.

Walker also spent time coaching at Purdue, Iowa and Texas.

Walker graduated from Princeton in 1984 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in geology. During his time at Princeton, he worked as the freshman defensive ends coach from 1982-84. In addition to attending college in New Jersey, Walker spent 15 years recruiting the New Jersey metropolitan area for various universities during his coaching career.

Walker and his wife, Michelle, have a son, Kyle.

RU football noted for top academics

BY TOM LUICCI
NEWHOUSE NEWS SERVICE

The next time the debate rages about whether successful big-time football can co-exist with academics, Rutgers may be held up as Exhibit A.

The NCAA, releasing its first four-year cycle on the Academic Progress Rate (APR) this week, cited Rutgers for being one of only six major college football teams to rank among the APR's top 10 percent all four years.

Rutgers, Stanford, Rice, Duke, Navy and Air Force were the six Football Bowl Subdivision programs (out of the 119) to earn the distinction of being in the top 10 percent every year since 2004.

"You look at the list of schools. It's very good company to keep," said Rutgers coach Greg Schiano.

According to the NCAA's definition, the APR "provides a real-time snapshot of a team's academic success each semester by looking at the current progress of every student-athlete. The APR includes eligibility, retention and graduation as factors in the rate calculations, and provides a much clearer picture of the current academic culture in each sport."

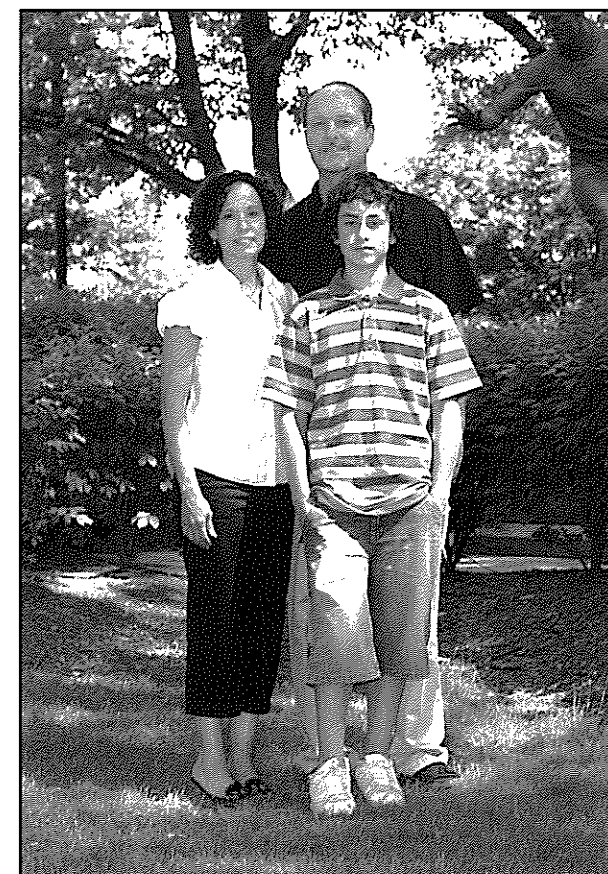

A perfect APR score is 1,000. Rutgers football recorded a 997 for the most recent academic year. Schools that fall below 925 face penalties that can include loss of scholarships.

Rutgers was the only state university among the six football programs recognized by the NCAA for APR excellence and is the only one that won a bowl game last year. The APR applies to all scholarship sports.

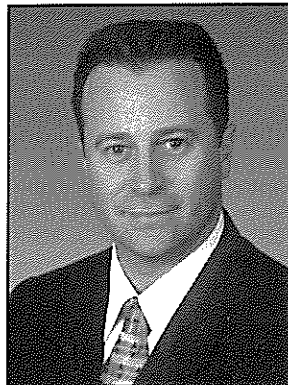

Academic achievement has been a hallmark of Coach Schiano's tenure at Rutgers. The Academic Performance Rate (APR) released by the NCAA showed that the Scarlet Knights are consistently ranked at the top of the Football Bowl Subdivision.

With a rate of 977, Rutgers Football ranked third in the nation and first among state universities and BIG EAST institutions. The program has ranked in the top seven nationally each of the last two years.

DAVID McCUNE

HEAD ATHLETIC TRAINER - FOOTBALL

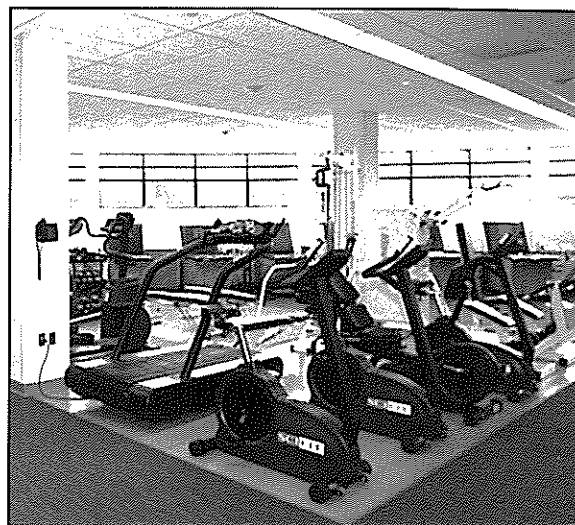

David McCune is in his eighth season as Head Football Athletic Trainer at Rutgers. He oversees all aspects of athletic training from injury prevention to rehabilitation within the program. McCune also assists with the coordination of the entire athletic department's athletic training staff.

He has worked with head coach Greg Schiano for more than a decade, also serving as Coordinator of Athletic Training and Football Athletic Trainer at the University of Miami for four seasons (1997-2000), before accompanying Schiano to the Scarlet Knights for the 2001 season.

McCune, a Virginia native, graduated from James Madison in 1986, and earned his Master's Degree from Southwest Missouri State in 1988. He began his career as an Assistant Athletic Trainer at Southwest Missouri in 1989, where he worked for one year before being named Head Athletic Trainer at the University of Miami's HealthSouth Sports Medicine Clinic (1989-93).

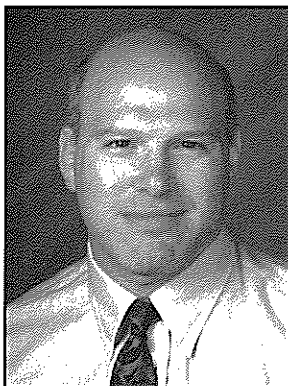

From 1993-95, he was Director of Sports Medicine for the HealthSouth Sports Medicine Clinic. He then returned to his alma mater, James Madison, as Athletic Trainer, where he served from 1995-97 before re-joining the Miami program.

David and Cindy Lou McCune are the proud parents of two sons.

DR. ROBERT MONACO

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS/SPORTS MEDICINE

Dr. Robert Monaco is in his 11th year as the Associate Director of Athletics/Sports Medicine and has served as Team Physician for the football program since his arrival in 1996. In addition to working with the football team, Monaco oversees the medical treatment for all of the University's sports. His responsibilities also include supervising a group of 10 full-time certified athletic trainers.

In addition to his work with the Scarlet Knights, Dr. Monaco is a clinical professor in the Department of Family Medicine at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School and directs the school's Sports Medicine Fellowship Program.

Dr. Monaco earned his Bachelor's Degree from Columbia University, where he was an All-Ivy League wrestler and team captain in 1986 and 1987. He went on to receive his Medical Degree from the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey, where he was a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society. He completed his residency at UMDNJ Robert Wood Johnson Medical School and St. Peter's Hospital in New Brunswick, working with the Department of Family Medicine.

Dr. Monaco has also done postgraduate study and completed a fellowship in Sports Medicine at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School, which included work at Princeton University and the Hospital for Special Surgery in New York City. In addition, Dr. Monaco holds a Master's in Public Health from Rutgers and UMDNJ Robert Wood Johnson Medical School.

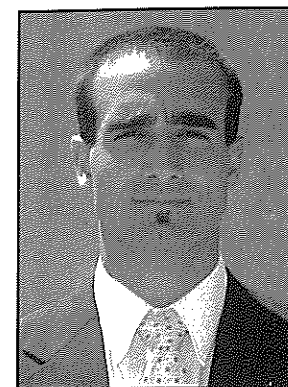

A native of Nutley, N.J., Dr. Monaco comes from a family of physical educators, coaches, and athletes.

THE BIG EAST CONFERENCE

The 2007 BIG EAST Conference football season began with questions as to how the league could possibly keep the momentum going on the heels of a season that was generally regarded as the best in conference history.

The 2007 season ended with West Virginia's Bill Stewart being carried off the field following a decisive win in the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl and a never-in-doubt victory by Rutgers in the International Bowl.

In between was a season that mirrored the surprises and excitement that comprised the 2007 national college football season – a year in which the BIG EAST continued to stand as one of the top conferences in the game.

West Virginia's win against Oklahoma in the Fiesta Bowl gave the BIG EAST's representative four Bowl Championship Series wins in the last five years. The conference was a combined 32-13 outside the league in 2007, with the .711 winning percentage standing behind only the 2006 (.739, .822) and 2000 (.757) seasons as the best in BIG EAST history.

The 2007 season also gave the BIG EAST a combined record of 89-37 under its current alignment, by far the best three-year run by the conference at any time in its history.

But wins and losses don't tell the whole story. Seven of the eight BIG EAST teams were either ranked or received votes in one of the three major national polls. Four of the eight were ranked in the top 10 at some point, while two schools – West Virginia and USF – were ranked No. 2. The Mountaineers spent one week as the No. 1 team in the nation in the USA Today poll.

The conference championship picture wasn't finished until the last game of the regular season. West Virginia found itself with a piece of the title for the fourth time in the last five seasons, while Connecticut, just four years removed from Division I-AA status, celebrated a share of its first BIG EAST championship.

The final national polls listed two BIG EAST schools among the top 20 and five that received at least one top-25 vote. Individual success also followed with two players – USF defensive end George Selvie and Cincinnati punter Kevin Huber – earning consensus all-America status and two others – Louisville quarterback Brian Brohm and West Virginia linebacker Reed Williams – being named to the ESPN The Magazine Academic All-America First Team.

The BIG EAST Conference's entrance into football was announced Feb. 5, 1991. The league gained instant credibility with its level of excellence on the field and with its television and bowl relationships. The BIG EAST has been a charter member of each of the major bowl agreements with the major conferences, beginning with the Bowl Coalition in 1992, followed by the Bowl Alliance in 1995 and the Bowl Championship Series in 1998.

Since its birth, the BIG EAST has been a national power both on and off the field. Commissioner Michael Tranghese served as coordinator of the BCS for two years from 2002-03. He has spearheaded the development of BIG EAST football since its beginning. The BIG EAST has been a frequent contender for the national championship. Eight times in the league's 17 seasons, a BIG EAST squad has played for a claim to the national crown in a postseason game.

The 2008 season will mark the first year of a six-year arrangement with ESPN that gives the BIG EAST unrivaled exposure on ABC television and the ESPN family of networks. ESPN, ESPN2 or ABC will carry a minimum of 19 BIG EAST home games each season, marking the highest guaranteed total on ESPN and ABC in league history. Championship Saturday in December will include one game either on ESPN and another on ESPN2. At least four BIG EAST games will be featured on ESPN's Thursday-night package each year.

In addition, ESPN Regional will continue to produce and distribute its Game of the Week package to a nationally syndicated audience, reaching more than 30 million homes. Most of these games also will be available as part of the ESPN GamePlan subscription service. Finally, a minimum of five home games will be carried on ESPN2.

Extensive television exposure and the BIG EAST have been synonymous terms. For football, the league established its own regional television package in 1991 before it had played a game. The BIG EAST Television Network immediately was the largest regional college football network in the country.

The BIG EAST has always aligned itself with prestigious bowl games. The league is one of the original founders of the Bowl Championship Series and continues to be one of only six conferences that receives an automatic annual bid.

The BIG EAST Conference champion earns the league's automatic BCS bid. The BCS – which enters its 10th season in 2008-09 – is a five-game arrangement for postseason college football that is designed to match the two top-rated teams in a national championship game and to create exciting and competitive matchups between eight other highly regarded teams in four other BCS games.

If the BIG EAST champion finishes No. 1 or No. 2 in the final BCS standings, then that team will earn a spot in the BCS National Championship Game. Otherwise, the league champion will compete in one of the four remaining BCS bowl games – the Tostitos Fiesta Bowl, FedEx Orange Bowl, Allstate Sugar Bowl or the Rose Bowl. Each bowl hosts two games once every four years – its traditional game plus the National Championship Game approximately one week later.

In a first-of-its-kind collaboration among Division I conferences and football bowl partners, the BIG EAST and Big 12 Conferences – along with Notre Dame – forged a bowl partnership beginning in 2006. This agreement assures both BCS conferences' or Notre Dame's participation in the Konica Gator Bowl and Brut Sun Bowl over a four-year period. The Konica Gator Bowl or Brut Sun Bowl can pick a BIG EAST team after the league's representative to the Bowl Championship Series has been determined. The Atlantic Coast Conference will provide the opposition in the Konica Gator Bowl (CBS) and the Pac-10 Conference will participate in the Brut Sun Bowl (CBS).

The Konica Gator Bowl has the first selection at the conclusion of each season. During the four years of the deal, the BIG EAST (or Notre Dame) will send a team to both the Gator Bowl and the Sun Bowl twice.

The Meineke Car Care Bowl is now in its seventh year with the BIG EAST Conference. The Meineke Car Care Bowl, which is played in Bank of America Stadium in Charlotte, N.C., picks after the Konica Gator Bowl or Brut Sun Bowl.

The BIG EAST Conference also aligned itself with the International Bowl in Toronto, Ontario, and the PapaJohns.com Bowl in Birmingham, Ala., beginning in 2006. In the International Bowl, the BIG EAST representative faces a team from the Mid-American Conference. In the PapaJohns.com Bowl, the opponent is from the Southeastern Conference.

The 2008 season brings another addition to the BIG EAST's bowl picture with the introduction of the St. Petersburg Bowl at Tropicana Field. The St. Petersburg Bowl will be televised on ESPN and will pair the BIG EAST representative against an opponent from Conference USA.

The addition of the St. Petersburg Bowl gives BIG EAST teams access to at least six postseason games each year.

2007 SEASON REVIEW

Another Bowl for Rutgers

For the first time in 138 seasons of football at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights played in a bowl for the third consecutive season with their appearance in the 2008 International Bowl.

Rutgers won its second straight bowl - another first in school history - with a 52-30 victory over Ball State in the International Bowl.

Rutgers in the NCAA Record Books

The 2007 Scarlet Knights are the first team in NCAA history to have a 3,000-yard passer, 2,000-yard rusher and a pair of 1,000-yard receivers in the same season.

Rutgers, 2007

Mike Teel (3,147 passer)
Ray Rice (2,012 rusher)
Kenny Britt (1,232 receiver)
Tiquan Underwood (1,100 receiver)

Only two other teams in NCAA history have had a 3,000-yard passer, 2,000-yard rusher and one 1,000-yard receiver.

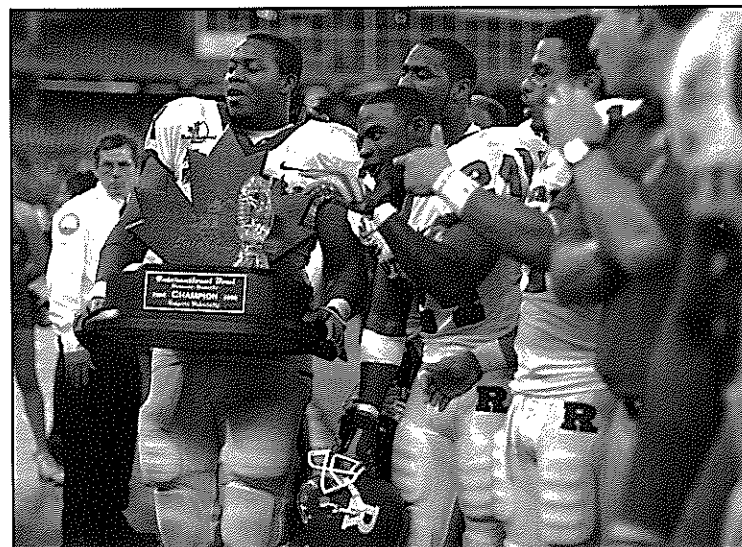

Starting a Bowl Tradition

Before head coach Greg Schiano's arrival at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights played in one bowl game in 131 seasons of football. In seven seasons at the helm of the program, Schiano has guided Rutgers to three straight bowl games.

The Scarlet Knights are one of 34 teams to play in three consecutive bowls. Among BCS members, Rutgers is one of 25 schools to play in three straight bowl games and just one of three BIG EAST programs to play in three consecutive bowls (Rutgers, West Virginia, USF). All-time, Rutgers is 2-2 in postseason play.

2007 SEASON REVIEW

Best Three-Year Run in BIG EAST Play

Since the BIG EAST Football Conference was formed in 1991, Rutgers has enjoyed its best three-year stretch from 2005-07.

The Scarlet Knights have won 12 conference games over the last three seasons, equaling their total of 12 victories combined from 1993-2004.

Eight Wins "On the Banks"

Rutgers finished the season with an 8-5 record after the International Bowl victory vs. Ball State. For just the second time since 1980, the Scarlet Knights recorded an eight-win season. It was also the 12th time in 138 seasons of football at Rutgers the Scarlet Knights reached the eight-win plateau.

Rutgers 500

In 2007, Rutgers posted five of the top 10 total offensive performances during the Greg Schiano era.

1,000 Club Welcomes Two Members

Rutgers wide receivers Tiquan Underwood and Kenny Britt each went over the 1,000-yard mark in receiving yards last season with their total in the first half at Louisville. It marked just the 26th time in NCAA history and the first time in BIG EAST history two players from the same team had 1,000 yards receiving in the same season.

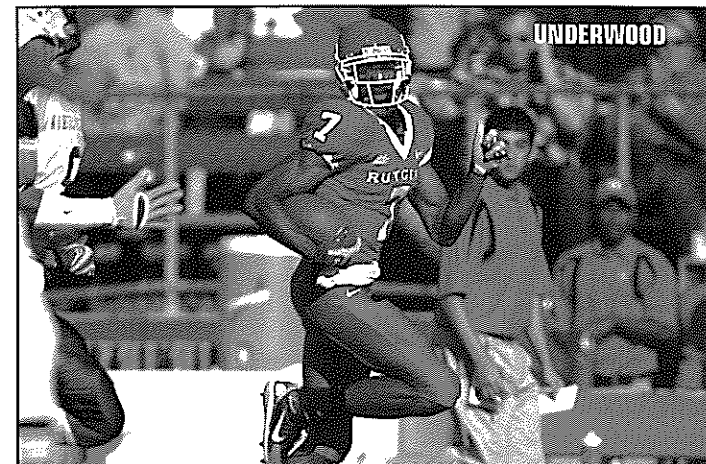

The pair also became the second and third players in Rutgers history to eclipse 1,000 receiving yards in a season. The first Scarlet Knight to achieve the feat was Tres Moses, who posted 1,056 yards in 2004.

The 1,232 yards receiving by Britt led the BIG EAST in 2007 and was the fifth-best total in single-season history by a BIG EAST player. Underwood ended the season second in RU history with 1,100 yards receiving.

2007 Season in the Record Books

The 2007 season for the Rutgers offense will go down as one of the most prolific in school history. The Scarlet Knights last season were just one of eight teams in 138 years of football at Rutgers to score 300 points in a season.

Rutgers set school records for scoring (426), first downs (294) and total offense (5,841) in 2007.

Airing it Out

Junior QB Mike Teel set a new school record with 20 touchdown passes in 2007. He also finished second in single-season school history with 3,147 yards passing.

Teel is the second player in Rutgers history with three consecutive 300-yard passing games. Ryan Hart (2002-05) holds the school record for consecutive 300-yard passing games with seven during the 2004 season.

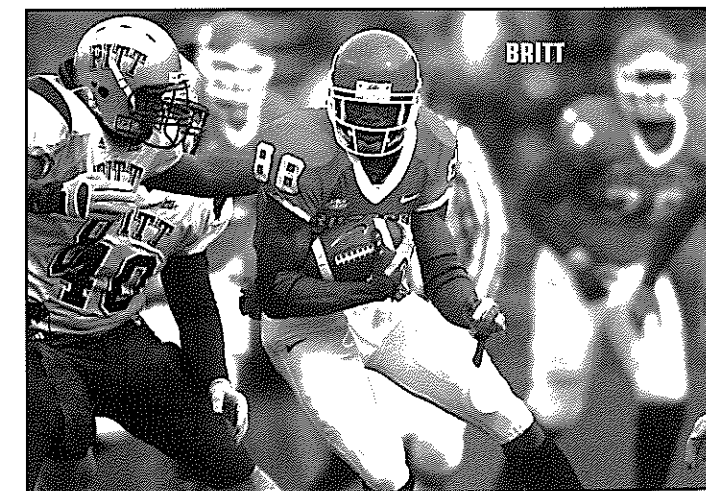

Teel is second in Rutgers history with six, 300-yard passing games.

Thanks for the Memories

The 2007 senior class recorded the seventh-most victories for a senior class in school history.

RICHARD L. McCORMICK

PRESIDENT OF THE UNIVERSITY

Richard L. McCormick is the 19th president of Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey. A scholar of American political history who began his academic career on the Rutgers faculty, he returned as president in 2002 after serving as provost of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and president of the University of Washington.

Dr. McCormick's goal is to advance Rutgers within the top tier of American public research universities. His ambitions for the university include an enriched learning experience for every student; teaching and research focused on global human problems; diversity of students, faculty, staff, and programs; and deeper connections with the people of New Jersey.

President McCormick led a major restructuring and reinvigoration of undergraduate education at Rutgers-New Brunswick, the university's largest campus. The plan, approved in 2006, merged four undergraduate colleges into a School of Arts and Sciences, expanded access to academic programs and learning communities, and established a popular First-Year Seminar program that offers more than 100 courses – each with no more than 20 students – on a wide range of topics taught by top faculty.

Other initiatives undertaken during Dr. McCormick's tenure include:

- Establishment of the first-ever universitywide alumni body, the Rutgers University Alumni Association.
- The Rutgers Faculty Traveling Seminar, an annual week-long tour of New Jersey for new faculty.
- The Rutgers Future Scholars Program, a pilot project to encourage minority and low-income teenagers from the university's host cities to pursue higher education by offering mentorship and college preparation support, and the promise of free tuition to those admitted to Rutgers.
- Rutgers-Camden's first-ever doctoral-level academic program, a Ph.D. in childhood studies – the first in the nation in this emerging discipline.
- Establishment of the School of Public Affairs and Administration, Rutgers-Newark's first new school in more than three decades.

Born in 1947, President McCormick earned a B.A. in American studies from Amherst College in 1969 and a Ph.D. in history from Yale University in 1976. He is married to Joan Barry McCormick, RU '88. She is a Vice President at the Saint Peter's Healthcare System in New Brunswick. Dr. McCormick has two children, Betsy and Michael.

A BRIEF HISTORY

Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, is one of the leading universities in the nation. The university is comprised of 27 degree-granting divisions; 10 undergraduate colleges, 11 graduate schools, and six schools offering both undergraduate and graduate degrees. Five are located in Camden, eight in Newark, and 13 in New Brunswick and one in Newark and New Brunswick.

Rutgers has a unique history as a colonial college, a land-grant institution, and a state university. Chartered in 1766 as Queen's College, the eighth institution of higher learning to be founded in the colonies, the school opened its doors in New Brunswick in 1771 with a handful of first-year students. During its early years, the college developed as a classic liberal arts institution. In 1825, the name of the college was changed to honor a former trustee and Revolutionary War veteran, Colonel Henry Rutgers.

Rutgers College became the land-grant college of New Jersey in 1864, resulting in the establishment of the Rutgers Scientific School, featuring departments of agriculture, engineering, and chemistry. Further expansion in the sciences came with the founding of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station in 1880, the College of Engineering (now the School of Engineering) in 1914, and the College of Agriculture (now the School of Environmental and Biological Sciences) in 1921. The precursors to several other Rutgers divisions were also established during this period: the College of Pharmacy (now the Ernest Mario School of Pharmacy) in 1892, the New Jersey College for Women (now part of the School of Arts and Sciences) in 1918, and the School of Education in 1924.

In 1924, Rutgers College officially became Rutgers University, a reflection of the institution's rapidly expanding number of schools and academic programs. Early in the century, Rutgers had begun offering educational opportunities to women when the New Jersey College for Women (later Douglass College) was founded in 1918, and to adult learners when University College was established in 1934. After World War II, enrollment exploded as Rutgers admitted all qualified candidates under the GI Bill. Rutgers was becoming an institution for all people, and in 1945 and 1956, state legislative acts formally designated Rutgers as The State University of New Jersey.

A flurry of expansion ensued. The University of Newark (now Rutgers-Newark) joined Rutgers in 1946, followed by the College of South Jersey (now Rutgers-Camden) in 1950. An ambitious building program added libraries, classrooms, and student housing across the three regional campuses. In 1969, Livingston College opened, providing a coeducational residential experience with a special commitment to diversity. Graduate education in the arts and sciences grew through the establishment of the Graduate School-New Brunswick, the Graduate School-Newark, and the Graduate School-Camden. Professional schools were formed to serve students in the fields of business, communication, information, and library studies; criminal justice; education; fine arts; law; management and labor relations; nursing; planning and public policy; psychology; public affairs and administration; and social work. Meanwhile, as industry and government sought partners in solving problems and advancing knowledge, the concept of the research university emerged.

In 1981, Rutgers adopted a blueprint for its transformation into a major public research university. With increased support from state, federal, and corporate partners, Rutgers' strength in research grew dramatically. In 1989, in recognition of its enhanced stature, Rutgers was invited to join the prestigious Association of American Universities, an organization comprising the top 62 research universities in North America. Today, professors and students work in more than 180 specialized research centers, unraveling mysteries in marine sciences, early childhood education, neuroscience, advanced materials, climate change, nutrition, homeland security, transportation, stem cells, and many other areas that can improve life both in New Jersey and around the world.

A 2007 major reorganization of undergraduate education in New Brunswick reinvigorated the undergraduate experience for both students and faculty by combining the traditions and strengths of four undergraduate liberal arts colleges—Douglass, Livingston, Rutgers, and University—into a single School of Arts and Sciences.

With 27 schools and colleges, Rutgers offers over 100 undergraduate majors and more than 100 graduate and professional degree programs. The university graduates more than 10,000 students each year, and has more than 350,000 living alumni residing in all 50 states and on six continents. Rutgers also sponsors community initiatives in all 21 New Jersey counties. Universitywide, new degree programs, research endeavors, and community outreach are in development to meet the demands of the 21st century.

Today, Rutgers continues to grow, both in its facilities and in the variety and depth of its educational and research programs. The university's goals for the future include the continued provision of the highest quality education, along with the increased support of research and commitment to public service to meet the needs of society.

ROBERT E. MULCAHY III DIRECTOR OF INTERCOLLEGIATE ATHLETICS

Bob Mulcahy has guided Rutgers Athletics to unprecedented heights in his first 10 years as Director of Athletics, and is steadfastly committed to the program's continued growth and development among the nation's elite as he enters his second decade at the helm.

Mulcahy has been able to implement his vision for Rutgers Athletics with uncanny leadership skills, open lines of communication and hard work. Throughout his tenure at the State University of New Jersey, he has remained committed to the ideal that Rutgers Athletics will provide the resources necessary for its student-athletes to attain success in the classroom and in athletic competition, and to prepare them as leaders and innovators for the future.

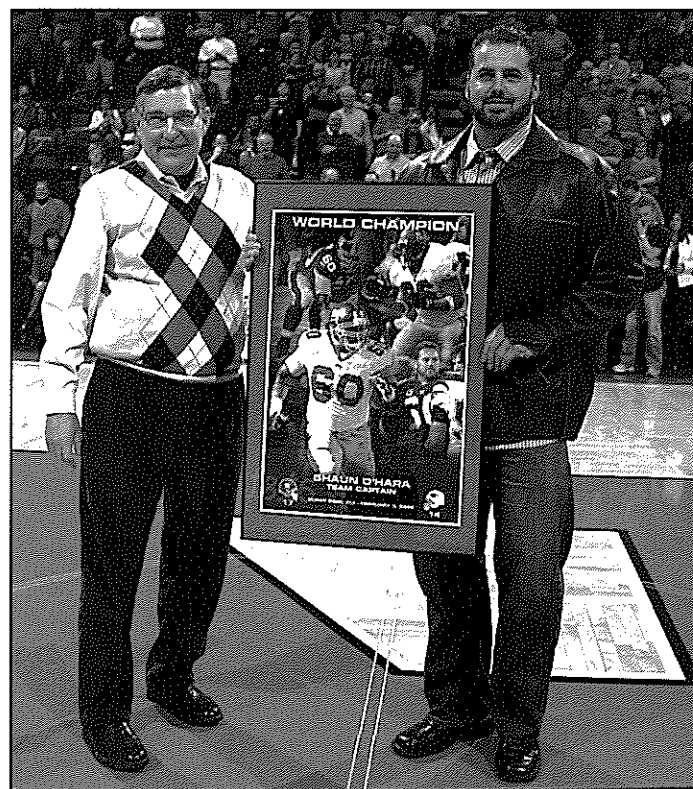

Mulcahy has authored one of the most memorable eras in the history of the athletic department over his 10 years "On the Banks." The football program has risen from the depths of the Football Bowl Subdivision to achieve Top 25 rankings and bowl championships, the women's basketball program has reached the NCAA Tournament's Elite Eight in three of the last four seasons, including an appearance in the national championship game, and in 2006-07, the Rutgers Athletic program was ranked in the Top 20 nationally for its athletics and academic achievements. It is now the norm, rather than the exception, to see Rutgers' sports teams listed in Top 25 polls.

Mulcahy was recognized for his efforts when he was named the AstroTurf Northeast Athletic Director of the Year in the Football Bowl Subdivision by the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA) in June, 2008. While gratified to have received the award, Mulcahy was quick to credit the hard work of the coaches and staff he has assembled. "The highest form of respect is when you are honored by your peers, and I am grateful ... (but) this award goes to everyone in our department - coaches and staff who have worked so hard to bring the athletic department to where it is now. We are committed to continuing this progress," he said.

Along with the impressive accomplishments on the field of play, Rutgers Athletics has also achieved in the classroom under Mulcahy's watch. In the most recent Academic Progress Rate (APR) report released by the NCAA in May, 2008, seven sports at Rutgers were ranked in the top 20 percentile nationally, headlined by football, women's tennis and men's cross country, which are ranked in the top 10 percentile within their sport. According to the report, Rutgers recorded an average APR score of 972 for its 24 sports.

Mulcahy, who hired the 2006 National College Football Coach of the Year, Greg Schiano, has seen the football program appear in three consecutive bowl games and record bowl championships in the 2006 Texas Bowl and 2008 International Bowl. The football team was ranked as high as No. 6 in 2006, and finished the year with an 11-2 record and ranked No. 12 in the country. With a season ticket waiting list numbering of nearly 12,000 as of June, 2008, Rutgers Stadium is presently undergoing a $102 million expansion project that will increase its capacity to 56,000.

Other capital projects have resulted in wide-ranging improvements in facilities to allow Rutgers student-athletes the opportunity for greater success in both the classroom and on the playing field. Capital projects include expansion of the Hale Center, making it one of the finest of its kind nationally, with an expansive strength and conditioning facility, a state of the art training room and a comprehensive academic support facility. In addition to boasting one of the nation's most difficult home court advantages, the Rutgers Athletic Center ("The RAC") has also undergone extensive improvement. In addition to housing the department's administration, the RAC also has a modern computer lab, expanded weight training complex, and a modern media headquarters/interview complex. The Rutgers baseball program has benefited from the installation of FieldTurf at its facility, Bainton Field at the Class of 1953 Baseball Complex.

Bob Mulcahy with Shaun O'Hara, captain of the Super Bowl XLII Champion New York Giants.

Community involvement and community service for Rutgers student-athletes remains a priority under Mulcahy's leadership. Rutgers student-athletes are committed to community involvement. Among the many projects they organize and participate in are the Student-Athlete Advisory Committee annual Holiday Toy Drive, Student-Athlete Blood Drives, the Read Across America program, and area hospital visits.

Mulcahy has overseen the institution of a comprehensive marketing and promotional plan to further increase corporate revenue and enhance the overall image of the athletics program. Corporate sponsorship has risen each year during Mulcahy's administration, and will continue to expand as Rutgers Athletics maintains its sponsorship with one of the nation's leading firms, Nelligan Sports Marketing.

Mulcahy has also been a leader in the BIG EAST Conference during his time at Rutgers. In 2003, Mulcahy spearheaded the development of the reconfigured BIG EAST Conference, which now stands as a powerful 16-team league, including eight institutions competing in the Football Bowl Subdivision (formerly Division I-A) as BCS members.

Mulcahy came to Rutgers on April 15, 1998, after an extraordinary 19-year tenure as President and CEO of the New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority (NJSEA). Under Mulcahy's leadership, the NJSEA developed into the nation's premier sports and entertainment venue. Among his noteworthy achievements at the Meadowlands included establishing New Jersey as the home of the finest college athletic competition in the country, with the creation of the Kickoff Classic Football Game, attracting the Army-Navy game to the facility on three occasions, and hosting eight NCAA Men's Basketball Eastern Regionals and the last Final Four ever to be held in an arena, in 1996. Mulcahy led the negotiations that resulted in the NHL's Devils, the NFL's Jets, and Major League Soccer's MetroStars calling the Meadowlands their home.

The NJSEA matured from primarily a horse racing and professional football business into a statewide engine for sports, entertainment and exposition development during Mulcahy's tenure. By the end of his term at the Meadowlands, the Sports Complex was hosting 600 events a year, drawing seven million visitors annually to such attractions as the Giants, Jets, Devils, Nets, and horse racing, as well as a broad variety of family shows and concerts.

Among his many professional affiliations, Mulcahy serves on the Board of the National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame, is Chair of its Awards Committee, is an honorary member

In recognition of his years of service to the Garden State sports world, Bob Mulcahy was inducted into the prestigious New Jersey Sports Hall of Fame in 1999, joining such luminaries as Yogi Berra, Jerry Izenberg, Vince Lombardi, Bill Parcells, Willis Reed and Phil Simms of the American Football Coaches' Association, and serves or has served on the Boards of several business and charitable corporations, including the Atlantic Health System.

Mulcahy, a graduate of Villanova University (AB in History, 1958), has received several awards from his alma mater, including the Medal of Excellence from the College of Arts and Sciences, the Alumni Medal, and the James "Jumbo" Elliot Achievement Award. Among other honors, his most prized awards include the Knight of St. Gregory medal, received from Pope John Paul II, and the Ellis Island Medal of Honor.

Bob and his wife Terry reside in Basking Ridge. They are the proud parents of seven grown children, and also have 11 grandchildren.

"Our goal continues to be graduating well-rounded student-athletes who can use the lessons learned in the classroom and on the field to become leaders in society. To continue to achieve our vision, we must ensure that our student-athletes are afforded the best possible opportunities in their highly-competitive environments. Our strategic plan, a larger endowment, and expanded, state-of-the-art facilities are cornerstones of this vision of excellence."

THE FIRST FOOTBALL GAME

Rutgers and Princeton played the first game of intercollegiate football on Nov. 6, 1869, on a plot of ground where the present-day Rutgers gymnasium now stands in New Brunswick, N.J. Rutgers won that first game, 6-4.

The game was played with two teams of 25 men each under rugby-like rules, but like modern football, it was "replete with surprise, strategy, prodigies of determination and physical prowess," to use the words of one of the Rutgers players.

At 3 p.m. on that memorable afternoon, the 50 competitors and about 100 spectators gathered on the field. To distinguish themselves from the bareheaded visitors, 50 Rutgers students, including players, donned scarlet-colored scarves which they converted into turbans.

Events leading up to the game were described by John W. Herbert, Rutgers '72, who was one of the players: "To appreciate this game to the fullest you must know something of its background," Herbert wrote in 1933. "The two colleges were, and still are, of course, about 20 miles apart. The rivalry between them was intense. For years each had striven for possession of an old Revolutionary cannon, making night forays and lugging it back and forth time and again. Not long before the first football game, the canny Princetonians had settled this competition in their own favor by ignominiously sinking the gun in several feet of concrete. In addition to this, I regret to report, Princeton had beaten Rutgers in baseball by the harrowing score of 40-2. Rutgers longed for a chance to square things."

A challenge for the game was issued by Rutgers. Three games were to be played that year. The first, played at New Brunswick, was won by Rutgers. Princeton won the second game, but cries of "over-emphasis" prevented the third game in football's first year when faculties of both institutions protested on the grounds that the games were interfering with student studies.

An analytical account of the game appeared in the November, 1869 issue of the Targum, Rutgers' undergraduate newspaper.

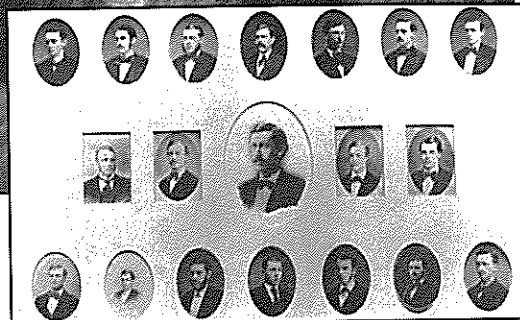

"To describe the varying fortunes of the match, game by game, would be a waste of labor for every game was like the one before," wrote the student reporter. "There was the same headlong running, wild shouting, and frantic kicking.

"To sum up, Princeton had the most muscle, but didn't kick very well, and wanted organization. They evidently don't like to kick the ball on the ground. Our men, on the other hand, though comparatively weak, ran well, and kicked well throughout. But their great point was the organization, for which great praise is due to the captain. The right men were always in the right place."

One of the Princeton players, William Preston Lane, in 1933 contended in a newspaper interview that Rutgers "ran us Princeton men out of town. I never found out why they did that," he related. "But we don't ask any questions. When we saw them coming after us, we ran to the outskirts of New Brunswick and got into our carriages and wagons and went away as fast as we could."

Lane's contention is refuted in the Targum account. "After the match the players had an amicable 'feed together,'" the paper reported. "At 8 o'clock our guests went home, in high good spirits, thirsting to beat us next time, if they can."

Regardless of what actually happened after the first game, football was here to stay. Rutgers got Columbia University started in the grid sport the following season and in a few years most of the colleges and universities in the East were represented on the gridiron.

THE BIRTHPLACE OF COLLEGE FOOTBALL

The following is excerpted from an article that was written by John Burns, former long-time sports writer for the Home News, and current sports writer for the Easton Times-Express.

When Rutgers defeated Princeton in the first intercollegiate football game ever played in 1869, the setting was quite different than it is today. The game was contested on a field along College Avenue in New Brunswick. There weren't tens of thousands of cheering fans in a multi-million dollar stadium. There was no manicured grass field or electronic scoreboard. There was no elaborate athletic equipment or television cameras. But on that fall day in 1869, those students established a tradition of quality football programs, competitiveness and school spirit that continues at Rutgers, the birthplace of intercollegiate football.

Rutgers won six of 10 games in 1882, but played only one game in 1885. Similarly, the Scarlet Knights went 8-6 in 1891, but two years later played only four games. By the early 1900's, scheduling had become more consistent and football became more popular across the country.

The eight wins of 1891 weren't matched until Rutgers went 8-1 in 1947 with one of the most successful teams of coach Harvey Harman in the Golden Era immediately following World War II. That team, quarterbacked by Frank Burns, who would later become Rutgers' most successful coach, lost its opener to Columbia and then swept through eight straight opponents.

In 1913, coach George Foster Sanford began a tradition of success among Rutgers coaches in their inaugural year by leading his team to a 6-3 mark. He then flirted with two perfect seasons, improving the team to 7-1 in 1915 and 7-1-1 in 1917. Those two seasons, which featured All-American Paul Robeson, were among Rutgers' best.

Sanford, a member of Rutgers' Hall of Fame, also helped to introduce Rutgers to the New York metropolitan area, playing games at the Polo Grounds against teams like Notre Dame, Nebraska, Louisiana State and West Virginia. A few years later, in 1924, two-time All-American end and fullback Homer Hazel helped coach John Wallace continue the tradition of first-year coaching success, as Rutgers posted a 7-1-1 mark.

Harvey Harman also had a successful first season, going 7-1 in 1938, the year Rutgers dedicated the original Rutgers Stadium. Rutgers won the dedication game, 20-18, over Princeton. Harman, however, was replaced by former coach Harry Rockafeller during World War II. His tenure included an 8-1 season in 1947 when Rutgers, dominated by WWII veterans, registered a combined record of 27-7 from 1945-48.

When John Stiegman coached Rutgers from 1956-59, he brought back the single-wing formation to the Scarlet Knight offense, and led Rutgers to an 8-1 mark in 1958. The only loss of that season, 13-12 to the Quantico Marines, came when All-American tailback Billy Austin had to miss a game due to a broken hand.

Another first-year coach got off to an impressive start when John Bateman went 8-1 in 1960. That campaign was followed by Rutgers' first undefeated season in 1961, when the team went 9-0, capping the season with a fourth-quarter, 25-point comeback win over Columbia. That team included All-American center Alex Kroll, and was ranked 15th nationally. In his 11 seasons, Bateman led Rutgers to 73 wins in 124 games.

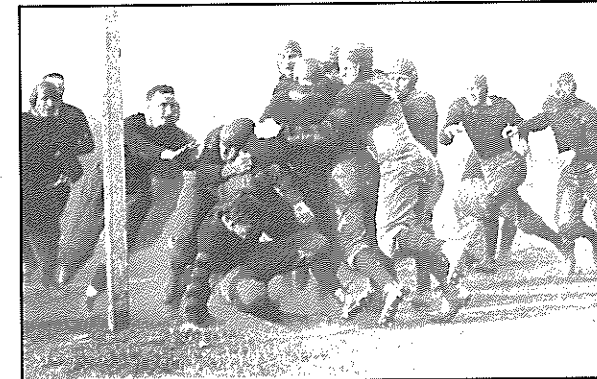

In 1973, Frank Burns took the reins of Rutgers football and became the most successful Rutgers coach ever by building teams recognized for fundamentals and defense. Burns himself was also known as a fierce linebacker and won the Most Valuable Player Award in the 1949 College All-Star game, when he made 17 tackles against the New York Giants. The Burns defenses were led by linebackers Ed Steward, Jim Hughes, Jim Dumont and defensive end Nate Toran. Burns' first team went 6-5, while running back "JJ" Jennings set single-season records for rushing yardage [1,353] and touchdowns [21] that still stand.

Over the next five seasons, Burns' teams won at least seven games each season, including a five-season stretch from 1975-79 when Rutgers' winning percentage was .803 with a record of 45-11. The jewel in the crown of Burns' tenure as Rutgers' coach was the 1976 season, when the team was perfect at 11-0, establishing the best season ever at Rutgers. During Burns' 11 seasons at Rutgers, the Scarlet Knights won nearly two-thirds of their games (78-44). He also took Rutgers to its first bowl appearance, the Garden State Bowl, at Giants Stadium against Arizona State in 1978.

Doubtless, the biggest win of the Burns era was the 13-7 upset of Tennessee on November 3, 1979 at Knoxville. Burns called it "the greatest of my coaching career."

The following year, 1980, Rutgers had one of its great "near-misses" of its long history when the Scarlet bowed, 17-13, to a highly-favored and No. 1-ranked Alabama team coached by Bear Bryant at Giants Stadium. In a post game comment, Bear Bryant said, "We didn't beat Rutgers. All I can say is we won."

In 1984 when Dick Anderson was named head coach, a renewed commitment to football at Rutgers was backed by a $3 million state-funded package. Those funds helped finance the artificial surface practice fields, the practice "Bubble" and the Hale Center, which includes lockerrooms, offices, a weight-training area and medical facilities for the football team.

Anderson won seven of 10 games in his inaugural season and his teams produced some of the most exciting players in Rutgers history, including record-breaking passer Scott Erney, career tackles leader Tyrone Stowe and career kickoff return leader Eric Young.

Doug Graber became the Scarlet Knights' 23rd coach in 1990 and placed an emphasis on recruiting the best talent in the state of New Jersey. His first recruiting class included three first-team All-State selections and two second-team All-State selections among the 12 recruits from New Jersey.

Another major boost for Rutgers came in 1991 when it joined the BIG EAST Football Conference. The team went 13-9 in its first two years in the BIG EAST, including a 4-2 BIG EAST mark in 1992, before slipping to 4-7 the following season.

The 1994 season celebrated not only the 125 years of college football, but also the return of the newly-renovated and expanded Rutgers Stadium.

A new stadium has been quite a different setting than that of the first college football game played over 130 years ago. The Scarlet Knights are playing for their own place in history as they continue the college football tradition that was born "On the Banks of the Old Raritan." After a less than stellar run through the mid-1990's under 1998 BIG EAST coach of the year Terry Shea, the Scarlet Knights opted to take the program in a different direction.

On December 1, 2000, Director of Athletics Bob Mulcahy introduced the newest coach in the storied history of Rutgers Football - Greg Schiano.

Under Schiano's leadership, 'it's time' for Rutgers Football to regain the nation's attention.

COLLEGE FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

PAUL ROBESON

Paul Robeson played four years for the famous coach, G. Foster Sanford. Rutgers had a 22-6-3 record in that time. In 31 games, Rutgers scored 941 points to opponents' 191. Robeson was a powerful contributor to that record.... Robeson was a two-time All-America end. Frank Menke named him All-America in 1917 and 1918. Walter Camp picked him in 1918. (Camp did not name an All-America team in 1917.) Following college, Robeson played three years as a pro - 1920 with Hammond, 1921 with Akron and 1922 with Milwaukee - in the American Professional Football League....

He obtained his law degree in 1923. At Rutgers, Robeson was elected to Phi Beta Kappa and was valedictorian of the class of 1919. He won the college oratorical contest four straight years and gave the commencement address at graduation. Robeson won 12 letters in four sports - four in football, three each in basketball and baseball, and two in track. He stood 6-3 in height and his weight was listed at 191 in early years, at 215 his senior season. This man of many talents became an actor, singer and lecturer. He was on Broadway and in the movies. His rich basso made his signature song "Ol' Man River" a classic. He starred in plays, such as "The Emperor Jones", "Othello", "Showboat", as well as many others, in the U.S., Europe and Africa. In 1925 he made a recording that sold 55,000 copies in four months. In 1972 he received the Whitney Young Memorial Award. Ebony Magazine called him "one of the 10 most important black men in American history...."

Paul Robeson was born April 9, 1898, in Princeton, N.J. His father, Rev. William Robeson, had escaped slavery in 1860 in North Carolina at age 15. His mother, Maria Bustill, was a teacher. When Paul was a high school senior, he won the statewide academic test and received a scholarship to Rutgers. In 1915 he was the third black to enter Rutgers and the first to play football. He died January 23, 1976.

A true renaissance man, Robeson won 12 letters in four sports at Rutgers - four in football, three each in basketball and baseball, and two in track. After his tenure at Rutgers, he became an accomplished actor, singer and lecturer, and was recently commemorated on a US postal stamp.

ALEX KROLL

Alex Kroll, a consensus All-American center on Rutgers' first undefeated football team in 1961, is the Scarlet Knights' sixth inductee into the College Football Hall of Fame, as a part of the Class of 1997.

Kroll followed end Paul Robeson, halfback Homer Hazel and coaches George Foster Sanford and Harvey Harman into this most cherished of college football's honors. Former athletic director George Little is also among the all-time honorees.

Kroll, a 6-2, 228-pound center and linebacker, was a major force in Rutgers compiling a 17-1 record in his two years of play "On the Banks." In 1960, the Knights under coach John Bateman were 8-1 and followed up with the school's first undefeated campaign, going 9-0 in 1961. Team captain of the lauded 1961 squad, Kroll was a two-time first-team All-ECAC choice and won first-team All-American honors from Associated Press, United Press International, Newspaper Enterprise Association, Look, and the American Football Coaches Association. Known as a "coach on the field," he was credited with making the quarterback sneak an offensive weapon as Rutgers scored seven TDs on that play in 1961 with Kroll clearing the way into the endzone for the signal-caller.

He was also a first-team All-East choice by the AP in 1961 and played in the North-South game and the Senior Bowl. In 1960, he was an honorable mention All-American. Following his senior season, he was a second-round draft pick of the New York Titans, playing for one season in 1962.

Kroll earned a BA in English Literature in 1962 and was a Henry Rutgers Scholar with a perfect grade point average in his major. He received a National Football Foundation and College Hall of Fame Post-Graduate Scholarship in 1961. In 1986, he was awarded the Silver Anniversary Award from the National Collegiate Athletic Association for his collegiate achievements.

Immediately following his last game with the Titans, he joined the workforce at Young & Rubicam, the world's largest independent advertising agency, as a copywriter. After a succession of writing and supervisory jobs in the creative department, he was named executive vice president and worldwide creative director in 1970. He was named president and chief operating officer in 1982 and, four years later, Kroll became chairman of Young & Rubicam. He is retired but still serves as Chairman Emeritus of Young & Rubicam. He resides in Charlotte, VT, with his wife, Phyllis. They have three children.

HARVEY HARMAN

Few men loved the game with the fervor of Harvey Harman, a huge man with a grand smile and a fierce dedication to the sport.

A former president of the American Football Coaches Association, Harman received that group's Amos Alonzo Stagg Award, symbolic of outstanding service to the profession. It was not surprising that Harman achieved such acclaim, for he learned his football lessons from two of the game's mentors - Glenn "Pop" Warner and Jock Sutherland - while at Pittsburgh.

Harman was a starting tackle for the Panthers before taking his first coaching assignment at Haverford. From there he moved on to Sewanee [the University of the South], Pennsylvania and Rutgers.

It was at Rutgers that he had his greatest success, directing the Scarlet Knights to a 26-7-1 record before interrupting his career to serve in the U.S. Navy during World War II.

Harman returned to Rutgers after the war and led the Scarlet Knights for another 10 seasons before accepting a position as Executive Director of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame, Inc. In that capacity, Harman became known as the goodwill ambassador for football, continuing to serve the game until his death in 1969. His career record lists a slate of 140-104-7.

HOMER HAZEL

He parted his dark hair down the middle, in the fashion of the day, and his deep-set eyes glowed with a competitive fire. Homer Hazel, Rutgers' first Hall of Famer, was, without doubt, the most versatile player the Scarlet ever produced.

A natural athlete, Hazel excelled in various sports and was most successful as a track and field star. His speed and quickness served him well, for he once recovered his own kickoff in the enemy end zone for a touchdown.

Homer led Rutgers to identical 7-1-1 records in his final two seasons, earning All-America laurels in each. He was an end in 1923, when the only Scarlet loss was to West Virginia (27-7). He had Rutgers on the way to an unbeaten finish in 1924 - this time as a hard-hitting fullback - when Bucknell untracked the Scarlet in the final game of the season, 12-7. During the 1924 campaign, Homer Hazel established school records for most points after a touchdown and longest completed pass.

He could do it all. Carrying 226 pounds over a 5-foot-11 frame, Homer lettered in football, basketball, baseball and track at Rutgers. He later served as Athletic Director, football and basketball coach at the University of Mississippi for more than five years. He was a golf pro for four years, and a labor relations manager for more than 20 years. Hazel won his first letter in football at Rutgers in 1916. He left school because of a lack of funds. Hazel worked at various jobs and, at age 28, played football again at Rutgers. Walter Camp named him All-America end in 1923, All-America fullback in 1924. Hazel was born June 2, 1895, and died February 3, 1968.

GEORGE LITTLE

A graduate of Ohio Wesleyan, George Little opened his coaching career at the University of Cincinnati and produced a two-year record of 10-8-0 before moving up the road to Oxford, Ohio, home of the Miami Redskins, in 1916. There, Little brought the Redskins their first Conference Championship and a 7-0-1 mark.

After service in World War I, Little returned to Miami and directed the Red and White to yet another league crown and a three-year post-war record of 20-3-1. He also coached the Miami basketball and track teams, claiming a conference crown in the latter sport.

The 1922 and 1923 seasons found Little at Michigan under head coach Fielding Yost, the man he replaced in 1924. That year, Little's Wolverines were 6-2. The next season, Little was in Wisconsin as the new Athletic Director and head coach of the Badgers, and he led his charges to a two-year mark of 11-3-2. His teams displayed imagination and strength on offense, a unique ruggedness on defense.

Little wound up his collegiate career as the Athletic Director at Rutgers, and then served as executive secretary of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame.

GEORGE FOSTER SANFORD

At the entrance to Rutgers Stadium, inscribed upon a bronze plaque, is a tribute to George Sanford. It was financed and installed by his players, the men "...he inspired to deeds beyond themselves."

Undoubtedly, Sanford was an inspirational leader of men, a gentleman who excelled as both player and coach. Sanford played center on the 1891 and 1892 Yale teams which held each of their 26 opponents scoreless. Though he was never chosen to an All-America team, a 1927 poll named him the all-time Yale center.

Sanford began his coaching career at Columbia (1899-1901), called in to revive the football program which had been abandoned after the 1891 campaign. His 1899 team defeated Yale for the first time ever, and it was at Columbia that Sanford developed the famous "Flying Hurdle Play" which saw Harold Weekes catapulted over the scrimmage line. Moving to Rutgers (1913-23), Sanford had marked success as his club rolled to a 56-32-5 record. He was hailed as a "miracle worker" in 1917, after his Rutgers team beat the heavily-favored Newport Naval Reserve All-Stars, 14-0. Between his teams at Columbia and Rutgers, Sanford devoted his energy toward a successful insurance brokerage business.

RUTGERS STADIUM

The following excerpt came from the game program of the first game played in the "New" Rutgers Stadium, on September 3, 1994. Written by former Sports Information Director Bob Smith, this story chronicles the history of Rutgers Football and the stadium(s) it called home.

Far removed from midwestern corn fields where Hollywood created a baseball dream, Rutgers realized a football dream when the new Rutgers Stadium opened for the 1994 season.

The completion of the stadium, expanded to accommodate 41,500 fans, coincided neatly with the celebration of the 125th year of the game which, Rutgers and Princeton inaugurated in 1869.

The new stadium, financed by a New Jersey Sports and Exposition Authority bond issue proposal, which was approved by the legislature and then Governor Jim Florio in January of 1992, was kicked off officially on March 9, 1993.

The historic groundbreaking ceremony drew over 500 as a host of state dignitaries spoke glowingly of the meaning for the University and the state. The stadium project would include expansion to nearly 42,000 seats with all the amenities of a first-class facility. Permanent lights, lit to a level of 150 foot-candles, will make possible night games and television broadcast. A two-tiered press box seats over 200. The main concourse includes eight concession stands and the stadium will be equipped with a state-of-the-art sound system. A huge, new scoreboard towers over the south endzone.

At the groundbreaking ceremony, then-governor Jim Florio said "there is no doubt that what is good for Rutgers is good for New Jersey."

Rutgers president Francis L. Lawrence noted that "this grand old stadium...has been of great service to the people of New Jersey and this new project will provide 800 jobs in New Jersey. New Jersey is a great state that deserves the best in every aspect, in every area, including athletics." Athletic Director Fred Gruninger called the event a "real happening."

One hundred and twenty-five years ago on November 6, 1869, Rutgers and Princeton played the first intercollegiate football game in New Brunswick on College Field, which is now the site of the College Avenue Gymnasium and its parking lot. And, while Rutgers won that initial contest, 6-4, Princeton would dominate the early days of this intrastate rivalry.

The Tigers won the second game at home a week later and went on to win the next 24 games through 1897, holding the Scarlet Knights scoreless in 22 of the 25 victories. Getting together again in 1911, Princeton added five more wins before the series lapsed in 1915. A leap of 18 years, a tumultuous time in this country's history, elapsed before the next meeting, but the pattern did not change as Princeton took the 1933, 1935, 1936 and 1937 games, all on its home grounds, as were all but six of the 34 games.

Those six games had been played at the site of the original game, College Field, where contests were staged through 1891, after which Neilson Field became the home of the Scarlet until 1938.

The stage was set for "the game that would live forever" (according to Jimmie Fleming, sports editor of the New Brunswick Home News) and a game that a New York news commentator rated one of the four principal historical events of 1938, along with the dismemberment of Czechoslovakia, the Munich agreement and the wars in China and Spain. But, the story began a few years earlier.

Through the presidency of John Martin Thomas (1925-30) and the brief 18-month tenure of Philip Milledoler Brett, Rutgers experienced a severe identity crisis. "For a quarter of a century," wrote historian Richard P. McCormick, "Rutgers had been in the throes of transformation from a small college to a multi-dimensional university, from an essentially private institution to an instrumentality of the state." That drama would continue even while the athletic picture began to improve. It would play itself out against a background generally called the Great Depression.

Robert C. Clothier was named president in December, 1931, and George E. Little became the athletic director in April, 1932. It is with these two visionaries that the story of Rutgers Stadium begins.

Both saw that the effectiveness of the instruction in physical education was being seriously hampered by lack of space and deteriorating facilities. Neilson Field, the football home site that had replaced College Field and the home of the Rutgers football since 1892, was in disrepair. Though indoor facilities were sufficient (College Avenue Gymnasium was completed in January 1932 and held athletic contests as well as a concert by Paul Robeson ('19) but if the overall program was to be strengthened, space had to be found.

Feeling that the University had weathered the initial phases of the Depression, Clothier dispatched Little on a survey of suitable land and on November 7, 1934, the determined athletic director recommended the purchase of a tract of land covering 256 acres across the Raritan River that included the disbanded New Brunswick Country Club golf course and the Adrian Vermeule properties. The Board of Trustees, noting that it was a daring move, nevertheless adopted the proposal and bought the land for less than $100,000.

Though the stadium area, a natural ravine, was included in the purchase, the original proposal did not include construction of a stadium. The development of the area would provide recreational areas for students and considerable acreage for future needs. The Federal government approved an initial grant of $320,000 on November 13, 1935, and work men began the enormous job of developing the River Road campus. The project was to carry a cost of $418,514 with the University contributing $98,390. It would provide work for 387 workers for one year.

A year later, November, 1936, a second Works Progress Administration grant of $143,841 was approved with Rutgers adding $107,530. In January, 1938, an additional grant of $237,000 was made by the WPA which brought the total of the three grants to $995,707 while Rutgers had appropriated $239,000, including the cost of the site.

All this played out against the background of the Depression. Franklin D. Roosevelt's Second New Deal had created the Works Progress Administration, a massive relief program that derived from the administration's belief that "human dignity was diminished under direct relief programs but enriched by programs that provided work in exchange for relief."

Though controversial, the WPA program was far more comprehensive than earlier relief efforts. The program would spend more than $411 billion before it was canceled in 1943. According to historian Edward Ellis, the WPA, employing more than 8.5 million people on nearly a million and a half projects, "built 651,087 miles of highways, roads and streets; constructed, repaired or improved 124,031 bridges; erected 124,110 public buildings; created 8,192 public parks; built or improved 853 airports."

RUTGERS STADIUM

The "big mud hole," after three years of construction and an even longer period of research and planning, was a transformed marvel. The Class of 1939, dubbed "The Stadium Class," would honor Little by dedicating its yearbook to him. The dedication reads, in part, "We acclaim all that George Little has done - Sponsored large-scale intramurals to provide 'athletics for all' - conceived and developed a vast athletic plant...traveled, dreamed, and fought for Rutgers...thoughtful, creative, impulsive, dynamic, generous - bubbling over with ideas and enthusiasm - unflagging in labor and effort - a champion of progress." A plaque in Little's honor would later adorn the stadium entrance beneath the press box.

The 1938 season would open not only with a new stadium but also with a new coach. Upon the resignation of J. Wilder Tasker, who had been the head coach since 1931, Harvey Harman took over the reins. Arriving from the University of Pennsylvania, one of his first efforts, in concert with President Clothier and athletic director Little, was to have Princeton agree to shift the game from Palmer Stadium. The Tigers had not visited the Rutgers campus since 1888 and a span of 17 games, but they agreed to make the short trip on November 5, the seventh game of the season for the Scarlet.

The Rutgers-Princeton clash would come one day short of the 69 years since the historic first intercollegiate game between the teams. It would fall also on Harman's 38th birthday.

Rutgers opened the season with four games on Neilson Field defeating Marietta (20-0) and Vermont (15-14) before losing to NYU (25-6) and then edging Springfield, 6-0. The first game in the new stadium was against Hampden-Sydney before an estimated crowd of 10,000. Rutgers took an early 7-0 lead on a Burt Hasbrouck two-yard run and Len Cooke added the extra point for the first scores in the stadium. The game's most exciting play came after the Scarlet took a 26-0 halftime lead. Art Gottlieb hit Moon Mullen on a short pass at the Rutgers 43-yard line and the senior end raced 57 yards for the game's final score. A Hampden-Sydney threat was turned away on a Gottlieb interception in the Scarlet end zone at the end of the third period and the final score was Rutgers 32, Hampden-Sydney 0.

At halftime of the Dedication game, Judge George H. Lane, the sole Rutgers survivor of the first contest in 1869, would be honored. On a sad note, William Preston Lane, the only Princeton survivor of the first game, passed away that very morning.

The first-half play, before a crowd of 22,500, had been as masterful as the words. But, in the half-time dressing room, the Scarlet squad, at an 18-13 deficit, wondered if the 69-year-old jinx would continue to hold. One writer's account of the game imagined that "Over them hung the most grotesque hoodoo in the history of football."

Down 18-7, Rutgers stormed back as Herm Greif, who had worked on the WPA crew three years before, replaced Gottlieb and quickly completed a pass to Joe Varju who was tackled at the Princeton one-yard line with just 59 seconds remaining in the half. After three passes, Greif ran for the score to bring the Scarlet to within five points at halftime.

The day deserved a storybook ending and that was to follow. Princeton penetrated to the Rutgers 15-yard line in the third period but the drive was stopped by the Scarlet. The game's golden moment came with five minutes remaining. Rutgers center Doug Hotchkiss recovered a Princeton fumble at the Tiger 12. But, in two plays, Rutgers had lost 10 yards. Gottlieb and Tranavitch combined on a nine-yard pass completion and, on fourth down, Gottlieb found Mullen at the goal line for the go-ahead score. The extra point by Walt Bruyere was good, Rutgers had taken a 20-18 lead.

The ensuing Princeton possession saw the Tigers take to the air, but Mullen shut down the drive at the Rutgers 30 with an interception. That left time for only a last line plunge and the game was over, the hex was gone. Rutgers had defeated Princeton for the first time in 69 years.

The 1938 Dedication game was certainly of storybook stature, but there have been many more that rival that first contest.

None more so, perhaps, than that on another Princeton visit. Never has there been such preparation for a game in Rutgers Stadium that there was for the Centennial contest in 1969. All the elements of great sports drama were there - proclamations were issued; a special commemorative stamp was issued; a reenactment of the first game drew 10,000 fans; pennants from some 350 football-playing colleges waved above the stands; an unscheduled protest march by Afro-Americans; introductions of celebrities, including the oldest living Rutgers football captain, William VB Van Dyck and Master of Ceremonies, Ozzie Nelson; the coin toss, or rather the three coin tosses, first with a 1869 silver dollar and then with a pair of Centennial medallions.

The game would be the first Rutgers home football contest ever televised as Chris Schenkel and Bud Wilkinson manned the ABC booth.

A crowd of 31,000 was on hand for the game, the largest in Scarlet history to that point, and later eclipsed only by the 31,219 for the Rutgers-Temple game in 1988, a Homecoming affair.

Princeton provided the game's opening salvo as Robinson Bordley returned the kickoff 63 yards to the Scarlet 24-yard line. Rutgers successfully repulsed the attack. Both teams missed field goal tries, but, after an interference call at mid-field, Rutgers took a 7-0 lead on Rich Policastro's rollout and Chris Stewart's PAT near the end of the first period. The Scarlet upped the lead to 21-0 by halftime on a Bruce Van Ness TD and Bob Stonebraker's reception from Policastro.

Rutgers scored again on a 27-yard Mike Yanceff-to-Joe Barone pass, and, because the goal posts had already been dismantled, the Scarlet scored on a two-point conversion by Yanceff. The 29 points were the highest ever recorded by a Rutgers team against Princeton. The victory was Rutgers 10th in the 60-game series. The teams would go into their second centuries, once again having made football history.

BOWL HISTORY

1978 GARDEN STATE BOWL

EAST RUTHERFORD - In its first postseason action in program history, Rutgers faced Arizona State at Giants Stadium in the inaugural Garden State Bowl in 1978. The Scarlet Knights pulled ahead in the first half on a touchdown by David Dorn and field goal from Kennan Startzell to take a 10-0 lead. However, the Sun Devils closed the gap just before the end of the first half when Mark Malone found Bob Weathers in the end zone. In the third quarter, Arizona State claimed the lead with two Malone touchdown passes and in the final quarter added another score with a rushing TD to make the score 28-10. Ted Blackwell brought the Scarlet Knights to within 10 points with his five-yard rushing touchdown and successful two-point conversion. Rutgers had a final chance to take over the game when an offside kick came bouncing its way, but an offside flag on the kickoff erased the Scarlet Knights good fortune. Arizona State tacked on two touchdowns to secure the 34-18 victory.

2008 INTERNATIONAL BOWL

TORONTO - In its third-consecutive bowl game, Rutgers pulled off another program milestone with its second-straight post-season victory as the Scarlet Knights defeated Ball State 52-30. Ray Rice had one of the finest individual outings in college football history, rushing for a career-high 280 yards and four touchdowns en route to being named the International Bowl's Most Valuable Player, his second-consecutive MVP honor in a bowl game. Rice's 280 yards were the third-most rushing yards in NCAA Bowl history. He entered the game with 1,732 yards on the ground and ended his season with 2,012 yards rushing to become the 13th player in NCAA history to amass more than 2,000 yards. The rushing total also set a BIG EAST and school single-season record. The 52 points scored were the most in Rutgers' bowl history, including both individual and team marks. RU set a total of nine bowl records at the International Bowl.

2005 INSIGHT BOWL

PHOENIX - Rutgers and Arizona State met for the second time in a bowl game, this time at Phoenix's Chase Field. The Scarlet Knights came up just short in the contest, losing 45-40 to the Sun Devils. RU scored the game's first touchdown on a pass from Ryan Hart to Clark Harris, but ASU quickly responded with a TD of its own, evening the game at 7-7. Both teams traded a number of scores but back-to-back touchdowns in the fourth quarter helped ASU to a 45-33 lead and the eventual victory. Rutgers engineered a 63-yard TD drive in the final 51 seconds, but it was not enough as the Sun Devils held on for the 45-40 win.

2006 TEXAS BOWL

HOUSTON - Rutgers' most memorable season ended with the program's biggest milestone - the first bowl victory in the history of Scarlet Knight football. Ray Rice rushed for 170 yards and a touchdown, while Tim Brown hauled in two TD passes as the 16th-ranked Scarlet Knights defeated Kansas State 37-10. Rice eventually went on to be named the Texas Bowl's Most Valuable Player. In the first quarter, Mike Teel hit Brown in the end zone on a 14-yard touchdown pass and the pair later connected, this time with a 49-yard strike to give Rutgers a 14-0 lead. Jeremy Ito sent a 37-yard field goal through the uprights with less than a minute remaining in the first half to take a 17-10 lead at halftime. In the opening minute of the third quarter, Rutgers extended its lead on an interception returned for a touchdown by Quintaro Frierson. The Scarlet Knights scored the final 23 points of the game as Rice added a 46-yard touchdown run and Ito converted a pair of field goals to give RU the 37-10 victory.

ATHLETIC DEVELOPMENT

HOME OF THE

SCARLET R CLUB

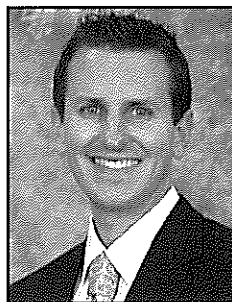

SUPPORTING RUTGERS STUDENT-ATHLETES

When you make a financial contribution in support of Rutgers Athletics you automatically become a member of the Scarlet R Club - an ever-growing team that is widely considered Rutgers' most passionate and loyal supporters. Composed of alumni, fans, parents, and students, membership in the Scarlet R Club provides every Rutgers fan with an opportunity to become a valuable part of the team.

Individually and collectively, Scarlet R members are powerful. Our student-athletes benefit annually from their generosity. Scarlet R members play a crucial role in the overall development of the athletic department. Last year over 175 scholarships, funded by members of the Scarlet R Club, were awarded. Today, Rutgers student-athletes benefit on the field from significant improvements in training facilities and in the classroom from enhanced academic support. Scarlet R members can take pride in knowing their unwavering belief and dedication to Rutgers Athletics makes them each team's MVP.

You can direct your support based upon your interest. You can begin your own scholarship. You can choose to support one or more specific sports programs or the entire athletic department. And, you can give to a fund that provides scholarships to student-athletes, enhances academic support services, or upgrades facilities.

If you are interested in learning more about the ways you can become a member or renew your membership in the Scarlet R Club please contact the Department of Athletic Development. One of the staff members pictured below would be happy to provide you with all the information you need to make the best decision for you and for Rutgers.

JASON KROLL

Senior Associate Athletic Director for Development and Marketing
jkroll@winants.rutgers.edu

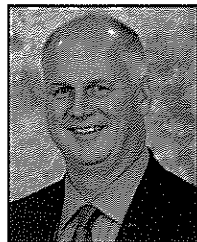

For the second consecutive year, donors to Rutgers Athletics have set new records in giving and participation. The athletic development team has worked with many generous and committed individuals to raise over $17,000,000 since the 2004-2005 academic year - the greatest three-year cumulative total in Rutgers history.

The athletic development operation is overseen by Jason Kroll. He proudly collaborates with energetic and passionate colleagues to deliver a comprehensive fundraising effort in support of Rutgers Athletics. The Scarlet R Club is directed by Lisa Gonzalez with assistance from Jen Richardson. Together they responsible for an array of functions designed to provide Scarlet R Club members with a fulfilling giving experience.

Doug Dolan, a Rutgers alumnus and former president of the Touchdown Club, was recently hired to direct special major gift fundraising initiatives and campaigns. The athletic development staff is capably assisted by Eileen Maiello and Monique Jackson.

WHY SCARLET?

Rutgers was a pioneer in establishing a college color, and a pioneer in using a color on the sporting field. The color scarlet was first proposed in the campus newspaper, The Targum, in May of 1869. It was adopted shortly thereafter. This color was chosen because it is a striking color and because good scarlet ribbon could be easily obtained. From the time of its choice by the students, scarlet has been the Rutgers color. College and university colors and coats of arms were not unusual in the Old World, but had been little-used in the New World. They came into large and vivid use only when athletics began to take rigorous hold in this country.

In the historic first college football game Nov. 6, 1869, the Princeton team members watched the Rutgers men don turbans and kerchiefs as close to scarlet as possible for team identification. Even without scarlet shirts, the headgear alone had added another "first" - the custom of wearing caps of a team's college, one long-copied over the years of football uniform development.

Sports lore at Rutgers has also known such terms as "Scarlet Scourge" and the lasting "Upstream Rutgers!" from the first big-time grid venture under George Foster Sanford. Through the years, scarlet has become embodied in the literature and songs of the college. Scarlet is identified with its sons and daughters, and is highly emblematic of the school itself.

WHY KNIGHTS?

Since the days when the school was officially known as Queens College, the athletic teams were referred to as the Queensmen. Officially serving as the mascot figure for several football seasons beginning in 1925 was a giant, colorfully felt-covered, costumed representation of an earlier campus symbol, the Chanticleer. Though a fighting bird of the kind other schools have found success with, to some the Chanticleer bore the connotation of "chicken." The Chanticleer remained as the mascot, and Queensmen as the nickname, for some 30 years.

In the early 1950s, in the hope of spurring both the all-around good athletic promise and fighting spirit of Rutgers' teams, a campus-wide selection process changed the mascot to that of a Knight.

By 1955, the Scarlet Knights had become the new Rutgers mascot. The Scarlet-garbed knight, riding a spirited white charger, came to represent a new era - the rejuvenation of first-class football "On the Banks."
